Democrats Elect Treasurer---Republicans Get Other Offices

HOAGLAND [redacted]ES THE CITY BY A PLURALITY OF 38. VOTES OVER VOORHEES

CARTER HARRISON'S FOURTH ELECTION

[illegible] Are [illegible] Democratic—Day Passes Peacefully, [illegible] Vote Being Polled—Republicans Gain Day [illegible] Some City, and Name Tickets Elected in Many [illegible]

The Republican city ticket was elected yesterday with one exception. W. H. Hoagland, Democratic candidate for city treasurer, was elected by a plurality of 381 votes over John A. Voorhees, the Republican and present incumbent of the office.

A light vote was polled and in several precincts the race was close.

In the First ward the closest race ever made in a city election in Colorado Springs was run by Frank Waters, Democratic candidate for alderman, and Simeon J. Dunbar, who insisted upon recognition when the machine was on the point of turning him down before the primaries were held. Dunbar won by 73 plurality and until late in the evening the result of the election was in doubt.

The cleanest sweep made by the Republicans was in the Second ward, where the Republican plurality was 286. The Third ward comes next with 275 plurality.

Ike S. Harris, Independent and Citizens' candidate for mayor, was given 1,104 votes, but no one else appearing on his ticket made even a good showing, with the possible exception of E. D. Sommers, who was given a total of 426 votes in his effort to become city clerk.

Vote for Mayor.

Judge Ira Harris, elected mayor, had 2,573 plurality, and a majority of nearly 400. Mr. Rouse received 1,836 votes.

The vote cast on mayor was 6,509, which is less than the total vote of the city as exhibited at the polls in the past.

E. W. Case, re-elected city engineer, led the Republican ticket, receiving 4,078 votes, and was followed by City Attorney Shenefor with 3,932.

W. H. Hoagland received 3,246 and Voorhees 2,865, making Hoagland's plurality 381.

Probably in no other city election marking the political history of Colorado Springs was the scratching so general. Blotters used by voters and judges at the polling places, in almost every instance were criss-crossed with ink, showing where they had been used for this purpose, and several were taken to Republican central committee headquarters as souvenirs.

Hundreds of voters of both parties did not get out, although the Republican managers put forth every effort to secure, especially in the business district, the full representation. No incidents occurred at the polls and there were no arrests during the day. The election was quiet from the moment the polls opened at 7 o'clock in the morning until they closed at 7 o'clock in the evening.

In precinct 41 two Republican judges resigned for business reasons, and the Democrats elected one Republican and one Democratic judge to fill the vacancies. This caused some feeling among the Republicans at the Temple theater, where the precinct was, and much talk was indulged in. The Democrats stated, however, that they were willing to allow the Republican who had resigned to retake his place, and stated it was a question before the voters to elect a substitute. This arrangement appeared to be satisfactory and the voting continued without trouble.

In precinct 45, George H. Perry, Sr., father of the new city auditor, resigned as judge, and Democrats and Republicans agreed there should be one Republican and one Democratic judge and that the third would be chosen by the judges already serving.

The Last Returns.

The last return to the headquarters of the parties was at 12:45 o'clock, midnight, when a messenger from precinct 29 brought in the vote, which had been delayed because of scratches until that hour. At 1 o'clock the result of the election was generally known.

At Democratic headquarters in the Durkee building the rooms were crowded. The same was true at the Republican headquarters, where the present Republican office holders were nearly all gathered.

At 6 o'clock Ike S. Harris stated that from reliable sources he had no doubt he was elected. Mr. Harris mentioned the name of D. B. Fairley as one of the Republican managers who conceded his election as mayor, and this statement traveled like wild fire to the political headquarters. Betting continued until the closing of the polls.

The vote on the water bond resolution was sufficient to carry it.

But few ballots were spoiled throughout the day.

At 11 o'clock City Treasurer Voorhees saw that he was defeated. "I did not expect it," he said. "I cannot understand why I should be the only one to see defeat in this big victory for the party, but, as I have said all along, Hoagland will make a first class man for the people of this city in the treasurer's office, and I congratulate the voters of Colorado Springs on having secured his services as an official."

[illegible] Defeated [illegible] Democratic Candidate for Mayor of Chicago by a Little Less Than 7,000 Plurality—Results Is [illegible] Surprise Party.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, April 8.—Mayor Harrison said: "I consider it a victory for ultimate municipal ownership and for the referendum. It means that the settlement of the traction question must be made in the interests of the people of Chicago. It was the hardest battle I ever had, and I am proud to have won it.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, April 8.—Carter H. Harrison was elected mayor of Chicago today for the fourth time. His majority, by unofficial count, over Graeme Stewart, the Republican candidate, being 6,848. The vote is as follows: Harrison, 106,775; Stewart, 99,927; Crane, Independent Labor, 9,393; Buchan, Socialist, 1,742; Haynes, Prohibition, 746. In the last mayoralty election the total vote was Harrison, Democrat, 146,[illegible]; Hanna, Republican, 138,412; Havs, Prohibition, 3,228; Collins, Socialist, 2,304. The early returns were in favor of Stewart and at one time he was 2,800 ahead, but the later returns cut down his plurality steadily and the Republican leaders in private conversation admitted Stewart's defeat by about 6,000. The chief issue in the campaign was the traction question, both candidates favoring ultimate municipal ownership of the street railways. Stewart advocated an immediate settlement of conditions, making the best terms possible with the companies. Harrison recommended a delay until he could obtain what it denied from the companies. Mayor Harrison said tonight:

"I regard the present election as a personal victory for myself than a victory for municipal ownership. The victory which should lead to the development of public as well as municipal affairs, Democratic or Republican, for years to come, to a great extent, but the people know the value of the work I have done in behalf of municipal ownership."

[illegible] Wins Democratic Victory in St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 8.—Election returns completed at 1:30 o'clock show that St. Louis went Democratic by a plurality of over 18,000 in about one-half the registered vote which is 122,000. Five Republicans and one Independent candidate were elected to the house of delegates. The other 22 members elected are Democrats. The Democrats elected their six candidates for the city council. The Republican and Democratic nominees for the board of education were elected and the Democratic nominee for inspector of weights and measures won. The Republicans claim gross frauds were committed at the polls.

Throughout the state the Democrats lost in three third class cities that they formerly controlled, but made enough gains in others to fully preserve their plurality.

[illegible] Wins Democratic Victory in Kansas Cities.

By Associated Press.

Kansas City, April 8.—Election were held in all the large cities of Kansas today. The liquor question was an issue in a number of cities, notably Topeka and in other places various local matters were in controversy. The result as a whole shows large Republican gains. Kansas City, Kansas, the largest city in the state, turned a Democratic plurality of 2,600 two years ago into a Republican plurality of more than 2,500 today. Thomas P. Gilbert, Republican, was elected mayor over M. J. Manning, Democrat, of the Republicans carried every ward.

In Topeka W. S. Bergundthal, Republican, was elected mayor by 2,000 plurality. He was the "dry" candidate and received a large majority of the women's vote. One year ago a Democrat, L. L. McCray, was elected mayor by a small plurality.

In Wichita, F. H. McLean, Republican, was elected mayor by 200 plurality.

D. R. Anthony, Jr., Republican, was elected mayor of Leavenworth by a majority of more than 1,000 votes, overturning a Democratic majority of 500.

Lawrence elected A. R. Fells, Republican, mayor, and Pittsburg chose Lawrence Tyler, Republican.

In Hutchinson, J. F. Harris defeated Frank L. Martin, the present incumbent, for mayor.

Emporia elected the Democratic mayor, John E. Martin, receiving 150 majority.

Atchison elected the municipal ticket, headed by James [illegible], by 500 plurality.

[illegible] Democrats Vote Arkansas.

By Associated Press.

Little Rock, Ark., April 8.—Reports from more than 40 parts of Arkansas show that there has not an Independent or Republican been elected in any of the municipal elections.

[illegible] Brown Re-elected Mayor of Pueblo After Bitter Fight.

By Associated Press.

Pueblo, Colo., April 7.—Ben Brown is re-elected Mayor of Pueblo by several hundred majority after an exceedingly hot and bitter campaign.

The re-election of Mr. Brown is a remarkable vindication of his character and expression of public confidence after the perpetration against him of a wholesale anonymous calumny. Thousands of printed circulars were mailed in Denver and addressed to people in Pueblo, hardly a voter, male or female, being omitted. The circular rehearsed and added details to an old slander of many years ago. The leading Democrats as soon as the circulars appeared published a denial of their responsibility therefor or connection therewith. Brown had defied them to attack him with any assertion of his culpability in the old scandal charges and they had not done so, and the Republicans claim that the bushels of mailed circulars emanated from persons interested in extensive sewer work, the mayor having prevented the building of the storm sewer until he could get a council that would stand with him.

Indications tonight are that he will have it and that the entire Republican ticket is elected. Mr. Brown's opponent was Charles Henkle, a popular pioneer wholesale merchant. Mr. Henkle was strongly backed by the Democratic leaders, including ex-Governor Adams, and their campaign was quite spectacular.

[illegible] Democrat Elected Mayor of Trinidad.

The Democratic ticket was elected in Trinidad by a majority of about 300. The Republicans made a strong fight and claim the election of their ticket by a majority of 50. The Democrats have a majority in the council.

[illegible] Ticket Wins in Manitou.

The Manitou election passed off quietly, there being only one ticket in the field. The citizens of the town met and put up a ticket composed of men regardless of party and the action was unanimous but some opposition to one of the candidates for trustee came up and it was with considerable surprise that O. W. Phifer the only opposition candidate carried precinct 13 against the regularly nominated candidate, A. M. Daggett, by a majority of 25 votes. Mr. Daggett had 4x to the good in precinct 12 and so won the election by a margin of 23 votes. Some opposition also developed against Mrs. A. N. Frowine, the regular candidate for treasurer, but she received a majority of 124 votes. Miss Lisle Harris also secured a vote of 56 as candidate for mayor, although her name did not appear on the printed ballots.

The sewer bond issue was carried by a vote of 54 to 42 against. The proposed issue of bonds is in the sum of $18,000 and it is expected that step will be taken at once to place them and to start work on the proposed sewer as soon as possible.

Following is the vote at Manitou:

[illegible] Democrat Elected Mayor of Cripple Creek.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 7.—The municipal elections in this city and Victor passed off quietly, with beautiful weather and a large vote polled.

In Cripple Creek the Democrats stood on a platform of decent government and the enforcement of law. The Republicans promised a "liberal" administration and won the support of the entire vicious element which was fighting for its life. In the early evening both sides were claiming victory, but the count shows the following results:

Democrats—W. J. Graham, marshal; Henry H. Clark, attorney; Archibald Stevenson, police magistrate.

Republicans—W. L. Shockey, mayor; F. M. Turner, clerk; A. G. Jones, treasurer; T. B. McDonald, street commissioner; F. W. Crowsley, engineer.

Indications are that the eight aldermen are evenly divided.

It will be noted that the officers particularly charged with the enforcement of law are all Democrats, so that in spite of the administrative offices being in the hands of Republicans, it was a distinct victory for the law and order element.

In Victor the ticket was split up to a certain extent, but when the final result came in, it gave the Democrats the control of the city affairs, the following being elected: For mayor, F. D. French, Democrat; for city marshal, M. O'Connell, Republican; for city treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Patterson, Republican; for city clerk, J. W. Daily, Democrat; for city attorney, J. E. Ferguson, Democrat; for city engineer, Earl R. Pollock, Democrat; for police magistrate, M. Gibbons, Democrat; for street commissioner, Simon O. Rourke, while the Democrats were given four aldermen and the Republicans two.

[illegible] Victory in Colorado City.

The election in Colorado City was one of the most exciting in the history of the town, although the result proved to be almost a landslide for the Independent ticket headed by Henry Ellithorpe for mayor, who secured a majority of about 300.

George Birdsall who was re-elected marshal received a majority of about 400. The Good Government people made a strenuous effort to carry the election and exerted every effort but were unable to cut down the majority for the other ticket. The carriages of both parties were in evidence all day and were recognized by the National flag on the Independent vehicles and the white streamers on the wagons of the Good Government party.

The women took a considerable part in the election and many were seen actively working for the tickets of their choice. The campaign was fought, not upon political lines, but strictly on the issue as to how the city affairs should be conducted in the future. The Good Government people were not satisfied with the policy upon which the town has been run in the past and made a great effort to change it. The Independent ticket was composed principally of the men who have been conducting the affairs of the town for the past two years.

No unpleasant features were noticed during the day, the election being carried out upon friendly lines. The campaign has been remarkably free from many of the disagreeable features which often characterize a bitter fight for political honors and the defeated candidates are taking their defeat in a philosophic manner.

[illegible] Association

Next Friday evening an entertainment will be given at the High school for the benefit of the High School Athletic association. The association is about $400 in debt and there has been for sometime a movement on foot to raise funds to remove this debt.

The entertainment will consist of a farce by the members of the Era society, music by the High School Glee and Mandolin clubs, the High School orchestra and by the High School chorus, and other literary and musical numbers. A feature of the evening will be a repetition of the fancy drill by non-commissioned officers of the High school cadet battalion, under the direction of Major Booth. This drill was given at the Antlers hotel on the evening of the cadet ball in February and brought forth much applause from the spectators.

All the classes of the High school are selling tickets for the entertainment.

Memphis, Tenn., April 7.—The Tennessee Derby at one mile and an eighth, the richest stake of the Memphis Jockey club, was won this afternoon by M. J. Daly's colt, Claude, the California Derby winner, in a canter by half a dozen lengths. Farmer Jim, an added starter, finished second, two lengths between the odds, on favorite, Rightful.

Despite the weather conditions, an enormous crowd witnessed the running of the derby. Rain fell throughout the morning and left the track in a muddy condition. The derby was called at 4 o'clock, and six horses faced the starter. Tracy was scratched, and Farmer Jim was added an hour before the race. Rightful was held at the close odds of 1 to 2, while Claude was second choice at threes, Banter and Farmer Jim sold at 10's, while Senator Thurston and Judge Himes, the Ellison entry, were the outsiders at long odds. To a good start Claude showed in front, closely followed by Judge Himes and Rightful. Passing the stand Judge Himes assumed the lead, but Daly on Claude kept close behind. Turning up the back stretch Judge Himes cut out the pace and held the lead until the far turn was reached, when Claude, without effort, shot forward and won in a canter.

Summary:

First race, seven and a half furlongs, selling—Nearest won; Daddy Bender second; Insolence third. Time 1:39½.

Second race, six furlongs—Bummer II. won; Autumn Leaves second; Optional third. Time 1:16.

Third race, one mile; Thane won; Rankin second; Kenova third. Time 1:45.

Fourth race, mile and an eighth—Tennessee derby, $3,600 added—Claude won; Farmer Jim second; Rightful third. Time 1:55½.

Fifth race, six furlongs—Censor won; If You Dare second; Bard of Avon third. Time 1:17.

Sixth race, one mile—Pay The Fiddler won; Mrs. Grannon second; Sambo third. Time 1:46½.

This afternoon at Washburn field the Colorado college Tigers play their second practice game with the Millionaires. The game will be played on Washburn field owing to the work that is now being done on the diamond at Boulevard park. The Millionaires will use their new men while the college line-up with the exception of the battery, will be the same as in last Saturday's game with the Aggies.

Howell and Montgomery will officiate as umpires-stops, while Solenberger, the new addition to the college ranks, will do the slab work. The game will be called at 2 o'clock.

The college team during the past week and a half has greatly improved and the team expects to make a good showing today against the professionals.

San Francisco, April 2.—The two-year-old race at Oakland today was marred by an accident that for a time was feared would prove serious. Huapala was crowded soon after the start and fell and Samar directly behind him, also went to the ground. L. Jackson, on Huapala, was badly shaken up and sustained a sprain of an arm as well as several contusions. Stuart was soon revived. Bonner, who rode Quaker Girl, the winner, was held responsible for the accident, and the judges fined him $100 for rough riding. Bonner was in great form, riding four winners.

Results:

First race, six and one-half furlongs, selling—Frank Pearce won; Carlice second; Dollie Wisthoff third. Time 1:22¾.

Second race, four furlongs, purse—Quaker Girl won; Strife second; Libbie Candid third. Time :49.

Third race, Futurity course, purse—El Chihuahua won; G. W. Trahern second; Dora I. third. Time 1:12½.

Fourth race, six furlongs, handicap—Organdie won; Money Muss second; Princess Titania third. Time 1:14.

Fifth race, one mile and 50 yards, selling—Montana Peerless won; David S. second; Martin Bell third. Time 1:45¼.

Sixth race, six and a half furlongs, selling—Marinette won; Velma Clark second; Aunt Polly third. Time 1:22.

Fifth race, five furlongs—Reine won; Merriment second; Midnight Chimes third. Time 1:04.

Sixth race, mile and 50 yards—Knight of the Garter won; Benckart second; H. L. Coleman third. Time 1:49.

LEADVILLE COUNCIL IN CONTROL OF DEMOCRATS

By Associated Press.

Leadville, April 7.—The election today shows both Republicans and Democrats elected by the smallest margins ever known here. The Republicans elected Mayor J. F. McDonald by 31 ½ votes. They also get the police judge, city treasurer, city engineer and two aldermen. The Democrats, however, get four aldermen and thus secure control of the city council and appointments for two years. The Democrats get the marshal, city clerk, city attorney and four aldermen.

PARTY LINES WERE NOT DRAWN IN NEBRASKA

By Associated Press.

Omaha, April 7.—Municipal elections were held in all the cities and towns of Nebraska today with the exception of Omaha and South Omaha, both of which work under special charters. Party lines were drawn in but few instances, the matter of permitting the sale of liquor being the issue in nearly every town. Republicans were successful in most of the towns heard from up to midnight where party lines were followed, although Democratic majorities were given in towns that have heretofore elected Republican officers.

In Lincoln, George A. Adams (Rep.), for mayor and the whole Republican ticket were elected.

COMPLETE RETURNS FROM ELECTION IN CLEVELAND

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, O., April 7.—Complete returns from yesterday's municipal election in this city give Johnson, Democrat, for mayor, a plurality of 5,985. Lapp, Democrat, for president of council, has a plurality of 10,428 over Sontheimer, the Republican candidate.

The Republicans elected Schroeder for police clerk and two of the four members of the school council. Otherwise the Democrats made a clean sweep. In the new city council the Democrats will have 17 and the Republicans nine members.

WHAT IT COSTS TO LIVE.

Average Denver Family Spends $2,405.84 a Year.

A Denver dispatch to the New York World says:

"According to Prof. James H. Garvin, of the Denver High school, the average family of five persons in this city spends $2,405.84. Such a family represents the mean between the rich and the poor of Denver, Professor Garvin says. It took him three months of rigid investigation to arrive at his conclusion, he declares.

"Professor Garvin says that out of about 1,000 heads of families he chose 100 persons of average means—that is, whose earnings ranged from $1,000 to $5,000 a year, and from them collected data of their expenditures. He chose persons of some education and culture and of aspirations probably beyond their means. His list included doctors, lawyers, civil engineers, ministers, photographers, insurance agents, real estate agents, architects, railway officials and clerks and heads of departments in factories and stores. He originated a tabulated blank of estimated expenses and accompanied this with a letter in which he said that there was a belief that while incomes had increased but little in the past ten years the cost of living had increased. He also said he believed that while incomes had not grown materially larger, the desire to emulate the wealthier people of the country had greatly increased, and that this wish to appear more prosperous had a bad effect on the morals and mental condition, as well as material welfare of the country.

"To Professor Garvin's surprise, he found that many persons did not know how much they spent, showing that financial hardship must be the lot in the end of some of those who answered him flippantly that they never kept an account of expenditures, but who admitted that they were apt to run into debt. Some men answered him that while they paid their bills regularly every month, they really had no idea how much they spent.

"At last, by dint of constant perseverance, Professor Garvin succeeded in getting 100 persons who kept a strict account of their expenses to fill in his blanks. The figures were for a family of five, including two children. The results were tabulated and averaged separately for each item, on the basis of one year. The resulting table was as follows:

Rent (per annum)	$ 383.51
Fuel	86.63
Light	35.28
Provisions, ice, etc.	498.48
Repairs and addition to equipment	63.23
Service	199.73
Clothing (man)	103.23
Clothing (wife)	138.51
Clothing (children)	109.07
Papers, periodicals, etc.	23.67
Books	25.25
Church and charity	69.53
Amusements, concerts, etc.	40.40
Car fare and travel (necessary)	31.38
Summer outing	85.67
Health—doctor, dentist, medicine	70.90
Insurance premiums (life & fire)	152.78
Societies, conventions, clubs	32.45
Hospitality	49.78
Smoking fund	157.07
Total	$2,405.84

Seven hundred and seven of those who submitted estimates spent $2,000 or over, 88 per cent spent $3,000 or more, while 37 per cent spent $5,000 or over. The highest estimate for amusement was $200. Professor Gavin found that the people of Denver spent more for their food than for anything else. One-fifth of the incomes were devoted to the items of food while between one fifth to one-seventh is paid out for rent.

"The average Denver man spends almost as much for clothing as does his wife. One man estimated his clothing at $300 and his wife's at $200. Almost all who filled out blanks believed in a summer vacation. The space which Professor Garvin had allotted for a 'contingent fund' was filled out in only a few cases, showing that most Denver people do not lay aside anything for the proverbial 'rainy day.' He does not, however, deduce from this fact that the average Denver family is unnecessarily extravagant, only that it lives well, does not deny itself what it has the money to pay for.

"Professor Garvin estimates that it would cost the same family that spends $2,405.84 in Denver at least $3,500 to live in New York in precisely the same way."

Had Earned a Day Off.

Irving Bacheller can always tell a story of the north country, and this is one of them.

"Up in St. Lawrence county," he said, "there was a God-fearing man who lived in a small village a few miles from Potsdam. Mr. Parker was an elder in the church, a good husband and father, and a worthy citizen, who was much respected in the community. One day he hitched up his team and went off with a load of produce from his farm to Potsdam. Night fell, but Parker did not return. His family was much frightened, for such a thing had never happened before, and they felt sure that some evil had befallen him. His son went to Potsdam and called at all his father's accustomed haunts, only to find that the old man had sold his potatoes and started home before dark.

"The family remained in great distress all night and until the next afternoon, when Mr. Parker drove in at the big farm gate. The old man's clothes were torn, his face bruised, a small portion of his front scalp was missing and his horse was broken-winded and all of a lather. He vouchsafed no explanation, but betook himself to bed, where he slept for fourteen hours, waking with a rich brown taste in his mouth.

"The matter got noised abroad, and eventually the minister and a brother older called upon him.

"'Brother Parker,' said the minister, solemnly, 'it appears to us that some explanation is due the church of events which have recently transpired, and we have called to see if you have anything to say about them.'

"'The old man pondered a while and then asked: 'How long hev I been a member of the church, boy and man?'

"'Forty-six years, brother.'

"'Hev I walked in the ways of the Lord pretty perpendicular during that time?'

"'Yes, Brother Parker, you have served long and faithfully.'

"'Well,' said the old man, 'I thought so, too, 'n' I just thought I'd take a day off.'"

The Beard Question in Court.

A citizen of Chicago, one F. W. E. Steinbach, has applied to the circuit court to enjoin his wife from pulling out his whiskers. He is 67 and she almost 40 years his junior. Appended to Steinbach's complaint are three envelopes marked exhibits A, B and C, which contain strands of hair plucked from his beard. Heartless people may feel like jeering at Steinbach and ridiculing his recourse to the law to obtain a decree to save his beard, but Steinbach sees no humor in the situation. A man can get an injunction to abate a nuisance, or to prevent a willful trespass on his property. Mr. Steinbach's beard is property in a close and personal sense, and he is intensely proud of its flow and texture—never have we seen a man with luxuriant whiskers who would not lay down his life for them. Why should an unholy, wanton, prankish or hostile hand take liberties with them or snatch one hair from their glossy complement? And when they once fluid of the blood after the red corpuscles which it contains have been strained out, contains an evil poison, or as it has come to be known an antitoxin, which, injected into an animal confers immunity to the same incident as should the disease itself. This was the beginning of "the new medicine" of the so-called "serotherapy." If the new methods have not yet realized all that was hoped from them, it may still be noted that a single one of the new serums, the preparation of the diphtheria antitoxin, has already saved thousands of little lives, and that horrible fate of death from hydrophobia is now almost unknown. Antitoxin for many of the serpent venoms are known, so that the other day, when Dr. Chalmette of Lille, who had made the latter field so much his own, was bitten in the careless handling of a deadly adder, he had merely to step across the room and inject into his arm the serum of his own preparation. Without the latter, in a few moments he would have been dead; with it, the crisis was soon past, and within an hour he was back at work. "Astonishing," murmured France, and so it was.—(Carl Snyder, in Harper's Magazine for April.

[illegible] Peruna as a Specific

Congressman Thompson Says: "I Highly Recommend Its General Use."

Hon. Chas. W. Thompson.

Men of prominence all over the United States are commending Peruna.

Over fifty members of our National Congress have either used Peruna themselves or noted its benefit to the extent that they do not hesitate to give it public indorsement.

No other remedy in the world ever received such honorable and unqualified indorsement.

Governors, Mayors, Generals, Admirals, Consuls and scores of other government officials speak in high praise of it.

Thousands of people in the humbler walks of life rely upon it as a family medicine. Send for a free book of testimonials.

Mr. Chas. W. Thompson, Member of Congress, Fifth Alabama District, writes from Washington, D. C.:

"My cashier has used your Peruna for indigestion with the most unexampled and beneficial results, and I cannot too highly or earnestly recommend its general use."—(Chas. W. Thompson.

Indigestion is most always followed by catarrh of the stomach.

There is no use of taking remedies to palliate indigestion.

There is no use calling it dyspepsia, and then taking pepsin and other remedies to produce artificial digestion.

The only rational procedure is to cure the catarrh of the stomach. The catarrh once cured, indigestion disappears, and there is no more dyspepsia. Taking artificial digestants is simply temporizing with the difficulty. In this way valuable time is lost while the catarrh is fastening itself stronger and stronger upon the mucous membrane of the stomach.

A very short course of treatment with Peruna is sufficient to cure these cases. Peruna is recommended by the highest authorities and the most conspicuous people in the land.

Congressman Botkin Cured of Catarrh by Peruna after Twenty-five Years' Suffering.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin, of Kansas, whose name is a household word, says of Peruna:

My Dear Doctor: "It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a number of years with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A congressional residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peruna is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections."—(J. D. Botkin.

Hon. J. D. Botkin

Margaret J. Moore, 52 Garside street, Newark, N. J., writes: "I had dyspepsia so badly that I could not take a drink of water without suffering severely, or could not eat anything without bringing on dyspepsia. I took one bottle of your Peruna three months ago, and can eat anything without suffering at all. I am well as I ever was."

Mr. Edward E. Cone, 305 Woodward street, Jersey City, N. J., writes: "I have had stomach trouble for three years, off and on, and one half years ago when I first tested with Peruna. After taking one bottle I found relief, so I kept on taking Peruna, for I was glad that I had found a remedy that would cure me. Every bottle I took made me feel better. When I began taking Peruna I only weighed 110 pounds, and now I weigh 160 pounds. I owe my health to Peruna, and highly recommend it to those who are suffering from catarrh."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Jackpot Matching.

Matching jackpots is a form of minor gambling that is keeping a lot of downtown folks busy these days. It's simple enough.

Suppose five men are matching quarters. Everyone flips his coin and uncovers it. If there are four heads and one tail or four tails and one head, the man with the lone tail or the lone head takes the money. If any other combination of heads and tails presents itself it's a jackpot and everyone "sweetens" with another quarter. That is, the second match is for half a dollar. That's kept up until some man has the lone head or the lone tail, and he takes the pot.

With four men it is certain that the pot will have to be sweetened more than three times, but with five playing and a quarter ante the winner is likely to take $8 or $10 out of a single pot.

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION.

AT the hour of going to press it would appear from the returns thus far received that a majority of the voters of this city have elected all but one of the candidates on the Republican ticket. They have demonstrated again the grip which partisanship has upon men and women who in other matters are of open mind. Those elected are as a rule men of probity and capacity. The new mayor has had the earnest support of many good citizens and if he and his colleagues are able to accomplish the half of what has been claimed for them in the way of rectifying and preventing the abuses to which we have grown too accustomed, our people will have no especial reason for regretting the results. It will at all events be distinctly a step in advance.

The candidates on the non-partisan Democratic ticket have made a gallant fight against overwhelming odds. Their election was impossible without unprecedented shifting of votes normally Republican. Such a shifting has taken place in the case of W. H. Hoagland, who is elected treasurer. It is possible also that one or two other candidates have been elected. To them as to their party associates who failed of election, the Gazette expresses its appreciation of the service which they have rendered this community by their stand for clean and efficient administration of city affairs. To the aldermen and officials-elect, without distinction of party, the Gazette will give hearty support in all their efforts for the city's welfare. Colorado Springs is the best city in the west and we want it to be the best governed and administered city in the United States.

THE END OF THE ASSEMBLY.

THE Colorado legislature has adjourned its biennial session after going to the extreme limit of 90 days and some hours over.

The assembly can hardly be said to have gone out in "a blaze of glory." Some few meritorious measures were passed, but others of even greater importance were sidetracked through jealousies and selfishness and indifference.

So careless were the members about passing the appropriation bill that it is not at all improbable that an extra session will be rendered necessary in order to give validity to this important bill. It is said that it was signed by the speaker of the house in blank, and that it did not pass the senate until after the house had adjourned, thereby raising two questions of great moment as to its validity.

The entire system of doing legislative business is faulty, in that much valuable time is frittered away at the beginning of the session when bills should be carefully considered before passage. Instead of this, bills are read upon the floor of the assembly during the closing hours by 10 readers at one and the same time. So far as an intelligent conception goes as to what is being done, this process is a travesty and a farce. A man with a bill in which he is particularly interested is permitted to read it. Nobody knows and very few care what it is about, because each man has his own personal axes to grind.

The result is, a mass of ill-considered, poorly-framed indigestible legislation full of flaws and furnishing abundant loopholes for controversies in the courts. And so busy are the various individuals in pushing their own bills through that they neglect such important legislation for the entire state as the appropriation bills and leave them either unpassed or enacted in such a manner as to require an extra session.

The root of the matter is found in the selfishness and incompetency of legislators. They want a few bills for their own section, and they care about no others. Until members of the general assembly are willing to take a broad, public-spirited view of the needs of the state, they will never be able to conserve the interests of the people.

JUDGE ROBERT E. LEWIS.

THE appointment of Robert E. Lewis of this city to be a judge of the Fourth judicial district has been made without especial deference to local political considerations.

That the governor considers a man eligible for a judicial position without having to pass the muster of the ward-heelers is to say the least, refreshing.

Mr. Lewis' selection will cause disappointment only in the ranks of the machine.

During his professional life here he has always borne himself with reserve and dignity and we trust and believe that in his new sphere he will fully justify the wisdom of his choice.

THE STRATTON CASE.

THE settlement of the Stratton case is of course a cause of general satisfaction. In its brief course in court enough had been disclosed to justify the belief that there were two sides to the controversy and that the trial would have revealed much that now will happily remain undisclosed.

I. Harry Stratton receives only a small portion of the fortune his father left, but many believe it is quite as fortunate for any young man to have $200,000 as $2,000,000 with which to start in life.

The settlement moreover will have most beneficial results locally and it would appear that all parties have acted wisely.

The report to the city council that 107¼ inches of snow have fallen around Lake Moraine during the past year as against 79 during the preceding winter will be good news to all water users in the city as well as to ranch st. and others who are dependent upon the snowfall for their water supply. If the answer is an ordinary one, with respect to heat and rainfall, there should be no water shortage next summer.

President Roosevelt declares that hereafter he will leave all banquets and public functions so as to be in his car by 10 o'clock at night. Strenuous though he may be, he cannot stay up with the boys until midnight and then be on hand at sunrise to greet the farmer vote in the country.

THE OHIO RESULTS.

IN Ohio the political result outside the city of Cincinnati seems to have been simply a continuation of what it was at the last election. The Democratic towns and cities have gone Democratic once more, and the Republican cities have continued in the control of that party.

In Cincinnati the Fusion movement with M. E. Ingalls at its head failed to make any inroads upon the powerful Republican machine controlled by George Cox and Senator Foraker. Charges were made of fraudulent balloting and fraudulent registration, and probably both charges are true. The Cincinnati Republican machine is one of the most reckless and relentless in municipal affairs in this country, and inasmuch as Foraker believed that his supremacy was menaced, he was a little more during and energetic than usual.

He compelled Julius Fleischmann to reconsider his determination not to run, and made the entire fight upon the basis of Fleischmann's popularity and paraded the bugaboo that the city election had an important bearing upon national politics.

In Cleveland Tom L. Johnson was re-elected and S. M. Jones was again made the executive head of Toledo. The friends of Johnson and those of Fleischmann are putting these men forward thus early as the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor next year. However, it is not at all certain that either of these men will be nominated, and many changes are likely to take place in political lines before the convention of 1904.

"UNDUE PROSECUTION."

MAYOR ROBINSON appears to have gone out of his way to assure the patient public of Colorado Springs that there would be no "undue prosecution" of Building Inspector Coray "for political effect."

So far as we know, nobody has asked that there be undue prosecution of this city official or any other for delinquencies and corruption in office. What the taxpayers of this city would like to see, however, is some sort of a prosecution, any sort of an honest and sincere prosecution of a city official charged with malfeasance in office.

If there had been even an attempt to secure justice, the mayor of this city would not now be holding his office, for the simple reason that he had in his possession $500 of city funds to which he was not entitled, and which he made haste to replace in the treasury when the Hale defalcation became known.

Under the circumstances, in view of the laxity and supineness which has characterized city officials in the past from the mayor down, any talk of "undue prosecution" from this source comes with very poor grace.

THE WORLD'S FAIR BILL.

THE legislature finally passed the World's fair bill for $100,000. While this is not all that was demanded or that could have been used for the good of the state, it will still enable the commissioners to make a fairly good showing at the exposition. In order to do this, however, it will be necessary for them to obtain the aid and support of various important concerns in the state such as mining companies, manufacturing enterprises, fruit growers' associations, and so on, which by their individual efforts will enable Colorado to make a much better general exhibit than it otherwise could. The exposition will be of vast benefit to Colorado and the entire west and the money of the state could not be better spent than in making a fine display of our natural resources.

After a great deal of litigation, the district court has decided that Teller county is entitled to a share of the levy made for the new court house at the time when Teller county was a part of El Paso. This case has been fought vigorously, and it is now believed that it will be taken to the supreme court. The amount involved, however, is less than $15,000, would indicate that there is little to be gained by pursuing this expensive litigation farther.

The willingness of the city to give the grade of the sidewalks free of charge to all persons intending to put in flag sidewalks should be generally taken advantage of by the people of Colorado Springs. The advantage of flag sidewalks with handsome grass borders is undeniable.

The city is still paying money on its Seven Lakes purchase. A bill of $4,500 was allowed by the council last Monday night for the purchase of the Pioneer ranch in the Seven Lakes district.

Carrie Nation was in Salt Lake on Monday, and her request to address the Mormon conference was refused. These Mormons don't think much of women, anyway.

A FRENCH TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN PATRIOTISM.

There is an article in the Revue Bleue, of Paris, which should warm the cockles of every American heart. It is by M. Delfrou de Vissec, a traveler who has studied men and things in many lands. The following extracts are from a translation in the current number of the Literary Digest:

"It is wonderful to note how a people so little military are gifted with a patriotism so intense. What a contrast between the towns of Germany, where at every step we come across troops on the march, where the very populace seems divided into regiments, and those immense cities beyond the sea, in which the sight of a military uniform, the sound of a trumpet, are practically unknown! Individuals (in the United States) are all the more citizens inasmuch as they are not soldiers. It is from the profound civism with which they are imbued from their devotion to the city and the state, that they derive their patriotism.

"In spite of this ardent patriotism, capable of making the Americans, if necessary, intrepid soldiers, did future peace, to which the world aspires, depend upon them, it would have solid guarantees. The Monroe doctrine binds them to an exclusively defensive policy. It is easy for them, therefore, to make peaceful professions. A menace of war will ever proceed from them."

The writer sees trouble ahead for whatever European nation shall put the Monroe doctrine to the test. He foretells that the rash country will be Germany.

"What has the future in store? No one knows. Everything depends on Germany. The American people are very patient, very good-natured. They can control themselves, and they are not inflamed by a first provocation. But once aroused, they know no bounds and would become the most formidable of enemies."

SHORT STORIES

Kipling and Bookseller.

There is a Vermont bookseller who never tires of repeating the retort that he once made to Rudyard Kipling.

This bookseller lives in Montpelier, and Mr. Kipling, during his residence in Vermont, visited his shop one day. He is a thin, sharp man and the poet, taking an interest in him, questioned him about his business.

"How many books do you sell a day here?"

"What is the profit of bookselling in Montpelier?"

"Do they read me hereabouts?"

These and other questions Mr. Kipling asked. Finally he took up "Celibates," a work of George Moore.

"Is this good?" he said.

"I don't know, sir."

"You don't know? Why, haven't you read it?"

"No, sir."

Kipling frowned at the little man. "A bookseller," he said, "and you don't read your own books?"

The other, much enraged, retorted hotly:

"If I were a druggist, would you expect me to take my own drugs?"—(Pittsburg Dispatch.

His Inside Information.

A Christian Scientist, while walking in the country, came across a small boy sitting under an apple tree, doubled up with pain.

"My little man," he said, "what is the matter?"

"I ate some green apples," moaned the boy, "and, oh, how I ache!"

"You don't ache," answered the follower of Mrs. Eddy; "you only think so."

The boy looked up in astonishment at such a statement, and then replied, in a most positive manner:

"That's all right; you may think so, but I've got inside information."—(Philadelphia Ledger.

Vanderbilt and Rockefeller.

Probably it was at this time (1879) that there took place the little scene between Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Rockefeller and his colleagues of which the former told the Hepburn commission in 1879. The Standard people were after more rebates. They affirmed other roads were giving larger rebates than Mr. Vanderbilt and that their contract with him obliged him to give as much as anybody else did.

"Gentlemen," he told them, "you cannot walk into this office and say we are bound by any contract to do business with you at any price that any other road does that is in competition with us; it is only on a fair competitive basis, a fair competition for business at a price that I consider will pay the company to do it."

Soon after this interview, so rumor says, Mr. Vanderbilt sold the Standard stock he had acquired as a result of the deals made through the South Improvement company. "I think they are smarter fellows than I am, a good deal," he told the commission, somewhat ruefully; "and if you come in contact with them I guess you will come to the same conclusion."—(Ida M. Tarbell in April McClure's

Uncertainties.

Congressman Payne of New York met a gray-haired acquaintance of long ago the other day and asked how he was coming on. Shaking his head sadly, the other replied:

"Oh, I've been out of employment a full month, having fallen a victim to the uncertainties of office-holding."

"And how long were you in office?" asked Payne, who was that growing sympathetic.

"Just thirty years to the day."—(Baltimore Herald.

Advice From a Bear.

Daniel Drew, most bearish of bears in Wall street for many a year, was fond of giving this advice to the youthful speculators in the stock exchange: "Sonny, don't go short on stocks when the spring sap is a-risin' in the trees. That's no time for sellin'. That's the time to buy." Daniel Drew went to his rest long ago. But some Wall street bears might possibly even now profit by his warning.—(New York Tribune.

Herreshoff and the Camera.

Nat Herreshoff had an experience with a photographer shortly after breakfast one day last week. The cradle of the Reliance, Constitution, Columbia, Defender and Vigilant is the south shop facing Narragansett bay. The home of the designer and builder of these cup defenders is about 100 yards away and faces the shop. It is not uncommon for photographers to perch on Herreshoff's front fence waiting for something to turn up. There was one there the other morning when the designer came out of his house to go to the works, and Herreshoff heard the snap of the shutter as he passed the man. Herreshoff seldom grows angry, but he was like an infuriated bull the moment he realized that he was caught in the camera which he had for so many years avoided. He fairly ran at the photographer and demanded:

"Give me that plate. I want the negative. If you do not give it to me at once I'll smash your whole outfit."

The photographer turned over the plate and the designer made a thousand pieces of it on his own fence. To make sure that there was no mistake he smashed all the other plates also.—(New York Mail and Express.

A VEIN OF HUMOR

When the ice begins to melt,

And the mud is seen and felt,
Minnesota,
When the snowdrifts disappear,
Just about this time of year,
Don't you wish you lived down here,
Minnesota?

When the green leaves meet your gaze,
Minnesota;
It's been warm for thirty days,
Minnesota;
Balmy winds the tree-tops kiss—
No one talks of "future bliss"
In a perfect state like this,

You'll be warmer by and by,
Minnesota—
In the middle of July,
Minnesota,
It is none of my concern,
But you'll have some days to burn;
You'll be roasted to a turn,

But your lakes are so serene,
Minnesota,
And your summer fields so green,
Minnesota,
I delight to see you when
You are at your best again;
You are restful to me then,

[illegible] NEWS [illegible]

[illegible] New [illegible]

News was received in this city yesterday of the appointment by Governor Peabody of Robert E. Lewis to the judgship of the fourth judicial district just created by an act of the legislature. The counties embraced in the district are Teller, El Paso, Cheyenne, Lincoln, Douglas, Kit Carson and Elbert. Judge Lewis will receive his credentials today from the secretary of state and will enter upon his duties at once.

Mr. Lewis was born in Missouri in 1857 and lived there continuously until he came to Colorado in the spring of 1888. He was admitted to the bar in Missouri in 1880 and at once entered upon the practice of his profession. He was chosen prosecuting attorney in Clinton, Mo., when he was quite a young man. He was presidential elector on the Harrison ticket in 1892. In 1894 he ran against David A. De Armond for congress and was defeated by 91 votes. In 1896 he was again nominated for congress, this time by acclamation, but was subsequently nominated by the Republican state convention for governor. He made an active campaign and polled 307,000 votes, being defeated by the usual Democratic majority.

Mr. Lewis in 1898 entered the offices of Judge E. A. Colburn and Charles H. Dudley, the firm becoming Colburn, Dudley & Lewis. Later he formed a partnership with the late Joseph W. Ady, which lasted one year. Since the dissolution of that partnership Mr. Lewis has been practicing law on his own account.

[illegible] WHY THE GOVERNOR [illegible] A LAW

The real reason is not given by Democratic and Republican members for the failure of the eight-hour bill in the Colorado legislature.

Senators H. H. Seldomridge and Arthur Cornforth, who returned to this city yesterday, after the adjournment of the legislature, give divergent views on this subject, which engrossed the attention of both houses for the greater part of the session.

"Petty jealousies between those who had introduced the bills in the respective houses, can be set down as the cause for the defeat of the eight-hour bill," stated Senator Cornforth.

"Subjection to ulterior motives was behind the defeat of the bill," stated Senator Seldomridge.

In speaking further of the conditions surrounding the defeat of the eight-hour bill, Senator Seldomridge stated: "It has long been a custom regulating the passage of bills for the house in which the bill is sent by the other, to kill any similar measure which it may have on its calendar. That is, whenever a bill is introduced in both houses at the same time, the house which passes it first will have the right of way, in a word. The other house kills the senate passed it first and sent it to the house. Instead of acting on our bill, however, as has always been the custom, the house passed one of its own after so amending it that it was opposed by the member who introduced it. When it came to the senate we did not want to quibble over the matter and we simply amended it by substituting all that part of our own bill after the enacting clause, passed it and sent it back to the house. The house refused to pass it, however, and it died with adjournment. If the house had ever been sincere about the matter it could have arranged a conference and effected the passage of the measure."

Both senators declare that in their opinion there will be no extra session of the legislature, both stating that the actions of the final session, when both houses were in continuous session from 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon till 7 o'clock yesterday morning, were completely valid and an extra session is unnecessary.

The World's fair appropriation bill, carrying with it $100,000, was the most important bill passed during the final session. In speaking on this matter Senator Cornforth stated that while he was in favor of a larger appropriation, he believed that the bill as passed carried too much, considering the condition of the state funds.

Among the important bills that were passed by the legislature just ended was the bill codifying all the probate laws of the state, and the bill creating a juvenile court and regulating the punishment of children found guilty of crime.

Another important bill, which affects to a certain extent the conduct of affairs in this city, was what was known as the Pueblo water bill. This bill provides that in the event the voters so desire they may have the conduct of the water department taken from the supervision of the city council and placed under the direction of a board of trustees.

Another bill repealed the law giving salaries to the members of the various boards of control at the state institutions. These members will now serve without salary, their expenses alone being paid.

The civil service bill, initiative and referendum bill and the anti-trust bill, all passed by the senate, failed to get through the house.

[illegible] UNDER [illegible] NEW MEMBER

The Young Men's Congress of the Y. M. C. A. met last night in the new building and had a very spirited debate upon the question:

"Resolved, That a distinct alliance between the United States and Great Britain would be beneficial to the peace and welfare of civilization and the consummation thereof should be hastened."

Representative Luke Russell of Utah introduced the bill to congress and in the affirmative Prof. Henager assisted.

No vote could be taken as the arguments were not considered conclusive. Mr. Clotworthy acted as speaker pro tem and his decisions were well received.

Several new members were initiated. All men are cordially invited to attend the meetings of the congress on Tuesday evenings.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual business meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. This is one of two very important annual meetings. The first, held in January, has particular bearing on the secular work of the church; the one here announced has specially to do with ecclesiastical matters. Reports will be read from all departments, four elders are to be elected, and other important business will doubtless come up. Every member of the church is urged to be present.

[illegible] SUNDAY SUPPER [illegible] MARRIED [illegible] SIX VOTES

By the slim majority of six, Fountain is now a town. The election, which was held yesterday, was the hottest political fight that has taken place in the little hamlet for some time, and it is estimated that every registered vote was cast. Up to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, 110 votes had been cast, and the total vote cast, according to the official returns, was 132. Of this number, those favoring incorporation received 69 votes, and those opposed 63.

The polling place was in the Herald office, and the workers were busy all day getting out the voters for the respective sides. There were no carriages employed, but the interest taken in the issue by both sides was enough to bring out from 40 to 50 votes more than have ever been cast in the town before.

One of those who has been a hard worker for incorporation, stated last night that his side was considerably elated over their victory.

"We did not think at first that there would be any opposition at all, and we were much surprised when it developed. Those who opposed incorporation, under the leadership of E. F. Torbit, mustered considerable strength during the last week or two, and we had to get to work in order to offset the effect of their actions. They argued that the taxes would be increased, and were able by that means to get the strength they showed at the polls.

"We will now set about the matter of calling another election for the purpose of selecting town officers. This election will doubtless be held within the next four or five weeks. John W. Sheafor, city attorney of Colorado Springs, is handling the matter for us, and he will report the number of officers we will have to elect. I understand that it will be a mayor and two or three aldermen."

[illegible] FAMOUS COLLECTION [illegible] PERMANENT HOME IN THE NEW SCIENCE BUILDING—[illegible] A SCIENCE CONTRIBUTION TO SCIENCE.

Colorado college has acquired the famous collection of prehistoric relics which Cecil A. Deane, curator of the State Historical society, has had on exhibition here. Arrangements were made yesterday whereby General William J. Palmer purchases the collection, paying therefor a handsome sum, the amount of which is not made public. However, as the collection is conceded to be one of the finest made of Aztec and Toltec relics, it may be taken for granted that General Palmer paid a big price for the purpose of keeping the collection at Colorado college. It will become a part of the museum at Palmer hall, the science building, and until the new building is completed, the collection will be kept in the present quarters.

Cecil A. Deane, who made the collection, is one of the best-known students of the prehistoric inhabitants of this section of the west. He has had exceptional opportunities to gather the evidences of what science recognizes as the earliest settlements in this part of the country and probably of the world. He accompanied General Powell of the United States geological survey and for three years studied and explored what is left of the cliff dwellers and the Aztecs and Toltecs. Since then he has made many trips to southwestern Colorado and northern New Mexico, and has spent much time in searching for the buried city the Indians claim exists near the lava fields. He has some artistically fashioned brilliantly colored articles of pottery, showing the colors as vividly today as possibly a thousand years ago; he has the cleverly made implements used for the grinding of grain; the stone mortars and pestles, axes, hatchets, arrow and spear-head, stone knives, needles of bone, sandals, idols, balls, skulls, etc., in all 900 articles that bring the dead past to life again.

[illegible] NEW [illegible] MINING [illegible]

A defective flue in the house at 414 East Vermijo street caused a fire at that number about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The premises are occupied by W. P. Rouzee. At the time the fire broke out, the family was in the lower part of the house and it had gained considerable headway when discovered. An alarm was at once turned in which brought two engine companies to the scene. Small flames were coming out of the top of the roof by the time the department arrived but a half hour's brisk work entirely extinguished the blaze.

During the progress of the fire, the family hurriedly removed all the furniture in the lower part of the house, carrying it into the street. The neighbors living on either side of the house became frightened and started to carry out their belongings, when the arrival of the fire companies reassured them.

The loss will be about $200 to the building, which is owned by Mrs. L. R. Cone and $100 to the furniture. There was no insurance.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY IS NOW ASSURED FOR MANITOU

George O. Ferguson of Manitou returned home yesterday from New York where he has been for the past two weeks in behalf of Manitou citizens who have asked Andrew Carnegie for a public library building. Mr. Ferguson reports that he had three interviews with Mr. Carnegie and that the prospects are good that Mr. Carnegie will give the city the usual sum which he donates to towns of the size of Manitou. Mr. Ferguson stated that the objection Mr. Carnegie had to giving Manitou a building was that it was not his custom to give libraries to towns as small as Manitou, but after an explanation that a large number of people come to Manitou during the year Mr. Ferguson was confident that Mr. Carnegie would change his plan in this instance. Mr. Ferguson will have during the week for another conference with Mr. Carnegie on April 18.

[illegible] FLOWER SHOW [illegible]

The meeting of the members of the El Paso County Horticultural society was held last evening in the offices of the vice president, W. W. Williamson. In the absence of the president, Mr. Williamson presided.

The committee appointed to look into the matter of spraying the trees, Messrs. Dunlap, Coryell and Crump, reported that several parties in town are prepared to spray trees. Some have one formula, some another, and the society does not indorse any in particular. The greatest difficulty lies in the fact that there is not sufficient apparatus to do the work. So the society would suggest that orders be placed at once.

Those children who won prizes of flower and vegetable seeds at the last flower show are requested to come to the Lowell school, bringing their certificates, and draw the prize seeds April 16 and 17.

There has been a delay in getting out the annual schedule because the cover has not arrived from Chicago. It is expected daily, and as soon as possible, thereafter the books will be finished and delivered.

The meeting adjourned to meet Tuesday, April 21, at 3 p. m. in the offices of W. W. Williamson.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS SERVED GOOD DINNER

The members of the Woman's Relief corps were very successful in their election dinner served yesterday at 15 South Tejon street. About $70 was taken in as a result of the dinner and supper served. An excellent dinner was served at 11:30 and in the evening until 11 o'clock an oyster supper was served. Both were well patronized by the members of the G. A. R. post, the members of the affiliated orders and their families as well as the general public. To all of these the members of the corps wish to extend their thanks as well as to Mr. Bennett who so kindly donated the use of the room. Flowers for the decoration of the tables were loaned by George Wright.

[illegible] LEASES HAVE MADE A BIG SHIPMENT

Lessees Have Sent Out Another Shipment That Will Run Better Than $45 per Ton—Fifty Additional Men Put to Work on the Portland.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 7.—McDonald and others, operating the Clara D. claim of the Lexington company, have sent out another shipment of ore that will run better than $45 to the ton in gold. The ore is being broken in an east and west vein at the depth of 220 feet, at the point where the former operators quit work. It will be remembered that the former operators ceased work because of the low grade of the ore. While they made a very large tonnage, there was too much waste rock in it to pay for the handling. Since the new lessees got hold of this property conditions have picked up considerably, and at the present time never looked brighter to the operators. They are also pushing work of development and sorting the ore very closely, and for these reasons the grade has improved very much upon their management. While the grade of ore is not high, the ore body exposed is of such large dimensions that they feel elated over the prospects they have for the future.

Lessee Hummer, leasing on the Gold Bond property, operating through the Sweet workings, sent out a shipment today of 50 tons of ore that will run in the neighborhood of $45 to the ton. This well-known lessee still continues to ship regularly from the property, running in the neighborhood of 225 tons per month.

Lessee Clements, operating the Tornado of the Elkton company, is rushing shipments to market these days. The lessee now has only some 40 days more to run on his lease, and he is breaking ore from four levels that will all run in the neighborhood of $45 to the ton in gold. He is practically doing nothing but taking ore out of the property, and a good-sized shipment is now ready to be sent to the mill.

This morning the Portland management put 50 more men to work on its property, with the expectation of nearly doubling their output before the end of the month, while the Ajax management have also increased their force in the last two days. They will also increase their production largely this month. Many other properties could also be mentioned in the list that are putting on extra help and sending out enormous amounts of ore. The Portland company is now sorting some 250 tons of ore per day.

At the depth of 200 feet, and north of the shaft of the Delmonico, a new ore shoot has been opened in what is supposed to be the extension of the Lillie dike. At the present time three feet of ore is exposed for quite a distance, every bit of it being good for $60 a ton. The old shoot on this property is still holding out and runs now some eight feet in width, while the ore from it runs all the way from $25 to $50 per ton.

Archibald and others, operating on the E. Porter Gold King, are slowly adding to their bank account from ore sent to market. Their rock has been averaging $12 to $40 a ton, but the grade is rapidly improving, as today from assays taken it averaged better than $60. The ore is coming from the first, second and third levels of the mine, and their lease has several months yet to run.

Dorsey & Hutchinson, leasing on the Doctor property, are gratified over the returns of their first carload of ore, which they received this morning, the screenings running $162 to the ton, while the coarse rock ran $40.60. From these returns the lessees seem to have a very good proposition.

Gilbert and others have let a contract for an additional 100 feet of sinking on the Le Clare claim on Gold hill, which they have under lease. When this sinking is completed, it will give the gentlemen a depth of 250 feet, from which they expect to run crosscuts in all directions, reaching out for some of the well known veins that are in their immediate vicinity.

Eight sets of lessees are working on the Burns of the Acacia company, every one of them being in ore. At the 550-foot point Falcey and others have recently opened up a foot of gold ore in what appears to be a new vein or dike, and from which they expect great things.

STRIKE OF GREAT INTEREST IN KANSAS OIL FIELDS

A telegram was received yesterday from James M. Parker, who is now in the southeastern part of Kansas, that oil had been struck in a tract of ground controlled by himself and associates. The location is understood to be in the neighborhood of Independence, in the same district in which John Himebaugh and George Elstun of this city have heavy interests, and where oil was struck a short time ago.

The depth at which oil and gas is found varies from 1,200 to 1,500 feet, and it is stated that rarely is it necessary to go below that depth to find either oil or gas. The territory included in the oil belt covers several counties and a large amount of prospecting is being done in various portions of the belt. Gas in commercial quantities is found and the quality of the oil is said to be of the best.

MINING MATTERS

Edwin Arkell, the well-known mining man, returned yesterday from Reno, Nevada, where he has been for the past two months in the interests of the Consolidated Nevada company, which is composed of Colorado Springs people. Mr. Arkell expects to return to Reno in about 10 days. He reports that Reno is growing rapidly and that a large number of people are coming into Nevada on account of the great resources of the state, which are as yet undeveloped. The property of the Consolidated Nevada company is being actively developed and Mr. Arkell has great confidence in the future of that property, as it adjoins the Wedekind property, in which several big strikes have been recently reported. "The vein," says Mr. Arkell, "is coming directly through our property and the big strike on the Wedekind was made within 200 feet of our shaft. We are now drifting at a depth of 110 feet to catch the vein, but I am of the opinion that we should first sink the shaft 100 feet deeper and then crosscut. It is at that depth where the Wedekind people are now working."

What Reno and the entire state needs, according to Mr. Arkell, is some of the energy and activity which has been displayed by Colorado people in the development of their own state.

MINING BRIEFS

On the Barbee lease on the Hart property a shaft has been sunk to a depth of 40 feet through the wash, and some prospecting will be done from that point. Mr. Barbee has a lease on the property, which was recently granted. The property is located on the north slope of Bull hill.

Lessee W. A. Parker announces his intention of installing a steam hoisting plant on this lease on the Gold Dollar property on Beacon hill, to exploit a find made some time ago at a depth of 65 feet. It is claimed that a small body of $20 ore was opened at this depth and some drifting done to follow it out. The blocks under lease to Mr. Parker are Nos. 6 and 7.

The lessee on the Amanda claim, Thomas May, has been doing considerable development work at a depth of 280 feet in the shaft. It is stated that the showing is encouraging, some good assays having been obtained. The theory upon which Mr. May is working is that the junction of several veins will be found in the Amanda property, and that a good ore body will be found at that point.

MANY APPLICATIONS FOR STRATTON LEASES

Applications for leases are coming in rapidly at the offices of the Stratton's Cripple Creek Development company, both in this city and in Cripple Creek, and it is stated that over 300 applications have been filed for a lease on one block of ground in the Bull hill territory. It is expected that there will be close to 1,000 applications received before any action is taken to lease any portion of the Bull hill ground. The plats on display at both offices have been inspected by many people every day.

COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

The mining stock market was considerably improved in tone yesterday and trading was well distributed over the list. Prices were strong and in many instances higher, and several stocks which have been steadily going down for the past few days had a considerable reaction.

Acacia gained to 9 on small sales and Findley sold up to 13, a gain of one-half cent per share over the price of the day before. Gold Dollar also advanced to 5¾, a gain of ¼ over the low price of the past few days. Golden Cycle was in good demand at 74.

Isabella was again the feature of the call advancing from 15¾ to 16¾, with sales of about 10,000 shares. Portland was strong and higher, selling at $1.38½, but Vindicator remained unchanged at 98, with fairly good sales.

In the prospect department Alamo was traded in to the extent of 6,000 shares at 2 and Acia sold at 1¾. Mary Cashen held strong at 3 but Old Gold advanced 4½, the opening price being 4. Keystone gained a portion of its loss of the past four days, selling up to 5¾ and Little Puck sold higher again at 3¾. Robert Burns at 1½ was a light trader and Twin Sisters sold at 1½. But few stocks were traded in on the miscellaneous list and prices were unchanged from former quotations.

So Sweet and Pleasing in Taste.

Mrs. C. Peterson, 625 Lake St., Topeka, Kan., speaking of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, says: "It has never failed to give entire satisfaction, and of all cough remedies, it is my favorite, and I must confess to my many friends that it will do, and has done, what is claimed for it—to speedily cure a cough or cold; and it is so sweet and so pleasing in taste." 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle at Hedley-Arcularius Drug Co.

The Penny Sit-Up.

We are ahead of London in some things for behind in others. A young artist, who styles himself a "mature student" made a study of the slums of London while abroad recently, and spent a night in what is known as the "Penny Sit-Up." His description is vividly pathetic. This institution is for men only. It consists mainly of a large shed, with row after row of benches having high backs. The inmates pay a penny each for which sum they have the privilege of sitting up all night and sleeping with their heads resting on their folded arms, which are supported in turn by the backs of the benches in front of them. At midnight the place is crowded almost to suffocation. Each sitter is allowed 18 inches of bench. It must indeed be horrible to sleep in that posture night after night. I do not see how one could obtain any actual rest or relaxation. As a matter of fact, there can be no rest without relaxation. Many persons have a heart affection that would surely kill them if they slept in an upright position, while others suffer from shortness of breath whenever they lie down. It is a queer, old human city.—(New York Press.

EASTERN MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Report from McIntyre & Marshall to William A. Otis & Co., to Otis & Hough.

New York, April 7.—The disappointing showing of the stock market and the rally that many were expecting following the further declines of Pacific decline, there was no response from either outside sources or London and there slight improvements in the initial trading under the lead of New York Central, Mo. Pac. and some other specialties under clique operations, was soon lost and speculation relapsed into extreme dullness, so much so that many were induced to reverse their positions and once more turn to the bear side. With struggling liquidation and selling reported by brokers who usually trade for the leading operator and rumors of a comparatively unfavorable statement for the first quarter of this year to come out from the United States Steel Co., in the absence of any substantial support and renewed heavy selling of Penna., Union Pac., D. O., R. I. and Steel stocks found the general market far from being active and it closed heavy throughout the list. Railroad earnings continued heavy and general business good, and there seems some prospect of getting money easing off temporarily at least, but with the leading financial interests inclined to let the market drift, chances seem to favor a continued dull and dragging market.

New York, April 7.—The opening was fairly firm. Professionals were not long in deciding what position to take in market for after the first half hour the market had a sagging tendency and on heavy selling of So. Pacific on liquidation by pool the general list was weak and losses were shown about a point from last night's close. The dissolution of the So. Pacific pool was expected to influence stock market materially over a three-days' holiday this week.

The only railway stock that showed strength was Union Pacific. During forenoon it was reported that the Harriman interests were buying the stock. The volume of business fell of about one-half from yesterday.

New York, April 7.—The market has been heavy today and at times weak. There was no support and prices yielded easily to pressure. Money was much easier and railroad earnings were good but these did not help the market. Stocks developed weakness on talk of possible strikes. So. Pac. was a weak feature, getting below 55 on what looked like liquidation. Colo. Fuel & Iron held well. Union Pac. also was steady. Amal. Copper dropped to 65 on persistent sales. There was no very important news. The Harriman-Keene quarrel was not a factor. The close was weak.

COTTON TARIFF.

Report of McIntyre & Marshall to William A. Otis & Co.:

New York, April 7.—Whereas the activity in the market since last Wednesday largely constitutes the efforts of the bear operators to cover their contracts, today's trading was signalized by a corresponding effort on the part of the bull clique to sell openly for profit taking when ever they could. The effect of this was a sharp break in the market which severely tested its tone and a re-action followed the trading but without the snap which has been noticeable of late. The short interest is much reduced, plainly on May and July, and this doubtless means delivories on contract unless the option lists should go very low and justify the rebuying of these trades. Outside speculation has doubtless taken the short side for a moderate extent and we are inclined to believe the bulls will not make a supreme effort to resist a moderate re-action.

Of the future of our market it may be said that today's quotations for May option may prove a point of resistance to a higher level even though repelled by the July options.

COPPER MARKET

From Paine, Webber & Co., by Private Wire, to Otis & Hough.

Boston, April 7. The general market was bid up a little on the opening, but liquidation sales began at once and continued all day. The buying demand is almost nothing and sellers have to make concessions all the time. The market closed just about the lowest prices and we continue to look for more liquidation and lower prices. Advise sales on every show of strength.

London Metal Market.

By Associated Press

New York, April 7.—The decline of yesterday was followed by a sharp advance in today's London tin market where a gain of £1 2s 6d was reached, with spot and futures closing at £1 35 15s. The local market was steady but the demand was light and the foreign advance consequently did not greatly affect local prices. Spot closed at $29.25@29.75. Copper declined 2s 6d to £62 7s 6d for spot and £62 10s for futures in the London market but ruled dull and nominal here. Standard is quoted at $12.25, lake and electrolytic at $14.50 and casting at $14.25.

Lead advanced 2s 6d in London where it closed at £13 12s 6d but remained quiet and unchanged in New York at $4.67½. Spelter closed at £22 15s at London and locally at $5.70. Iron was lower abroad, closing at 54s 9d in Glasgow and at 48s 10½d in Middlesboro. Locally prices were unchanged.

Money Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, April 7.—Money on call firmer at 4½@5 per cent; closing at 5@6 per cent. Time money nominal; 60 days, 5@5½ per cent; 90 days, 5@5½; six months, 5½. Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6½.

Sterling exchange weak with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8660@4.8665 for demand and at $4.8365@4.8375 for 60 days. Posted rates, $4.84½ and $4.87½@4.88. Commercial bills, $4.82 3-4@4.83 3-4.

Bar silver, 49 1-8. Mexican dollars, 38½.

Bonds—Governments firm; railroads irregular.

Chicago Cattle Market.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, April 7.—Cattle—Receipts, 4,000. Steady. Good to prime steers, $4.90@5.60; poor to medium, $3.90@4.15; stockers and feeders, $3@4.15; cows, $1.60@4.25; heifers, $2.50@4.75; canners, $1.60@2.90; bulls, $2.50@4.25; calves, $3@6.40; Texas fed steers, $4.10@4.55.

Hogs—Receipts, 15,000. Strong to 5c higher. Mixed and butchers' $7.15@7.35; good to choice heavy, $7.25@7.60; rough heavy, $7.15@7.35; light, $6.85@7.15; bulk of sales, $7.15@7.40.

Sheep—Receipts, 12,000. Steady. Lambs steady. Choice steady. Good to choice wethers, $5.75@7.25; fair to choice, 4.50@5.60; western sheep, $5.50@7; western lambs, $5.50@7.90.

Children's Coughs and Colds.

Mrs. Joe McGrath, 327 E. First street, Hutchinson, Kas., writes: "I have given Ballard's Horehound Syrup to my children for coughs and colds for the past four years, and find it the best medicine I ever used." MONUMENT

Mr. O. P. Jackson of the firm of Gwillim & Jackson, Colorado Springs, was in town Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Chas. Younger went to Denver Wednesday for a week's visit.

Mrs. O. Reed and baby returned from Pueblo Saturday.

Dick Millright made a trip to Colorado Springs Saturday.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Kerns Friday afternoon. It was voted to ask Mrs. Hungerford, state W. C. T. U. vice president of Denver, and Miss Davidson to take charge of the convention which is to be held here in the near future. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Curry's.

Mr. Edgar Wise of Pueblo, spent Thursday and Friday with his mother, Mrs. D. C. Guire.

Mr. Woodward and son Harry, of Colorado Springs, spent last week on his ranch south of town.

Mrs. Josiah Guire was a Colorado Springs visitor last week.

Mrs. Paul Limbach and children of Denver, came Thursday for a visit with Mr. Henry Limbach and daughter.

Miss Sarah Gwillim spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents at Roswell.

Mr. Chas. Birey of Cripple Creek, is visiting his family.

Mr. Louis Guire made a trip to Colorado Springs Friday.

Mrs. De Witt of Atchison, Kansas, came Thursday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Morrison.

Miss Harriet Ballou and Mr. W. A. Peterson were quietly married at the home of the bride on Saturday evening, March 21. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Bell and was kept a secret until a few days ago. Miss Ballou is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Ballou, who have been residents of Monument for many years and is an accomplished young lady. Mr. Peterson has lived here for several years and is highly respected. Their friends extend congratulations. The happy couple left on Sunday for Denver.

Eight or ten freight cars were derailed near the Santa Fe depot Friday by the splitting of a rail. As it was on the side track traffic was not delayed. The Firing section crew came up Saturday to help repair the track.

A heavy snow fell on the divide Thursday. As the ground was rather dry the moisture was very welcome to the farmers.

Mrs. Mangos and Mrs. Curry are busy drilling the children for the Easter services next Sunday morning.

Mr. W. J. Green has moved to the Whalen property.

Mr. D. Myers, who went to Pueblo for his health was much worse at last report.

Dr. Huxley, eye specialist of Denver, was in town Thursday.

Little Mary Shemwell, who spent last week with her aunt, Mrs. McConnell, returned to Colorado Springs Sunday.

THE PRINTING ARTS EXHIBIT.

Important Place Given to Newspaper and Book Manufacture at the World's Fair.

The graphic arts section of the universal exposition to be held in St. Louis, Mo., in 1904, is in the liberal arts department of which Col. John A. Ockerman is chief. It is designed to have the most complete exhibit of typography, photo-mechanical processes of book making and paper making which has ever been collected at any exposition.

Col. Ockerman, chief of the department of liberal arts, is one of the best known engineers in the United States. He is a prominent member of several scientific societies and has made many valuable contributions to technical literature. In matters relating to river hydraulics and navigations he is considered as the highest authority. At the present time he is a United States commissioner on improvement of the Mississippi river to which he was appointed in 1899. Previously he had been engaged in engineering practice in the construction of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, on surveys and engineering work on the great lakes, at the Eads jetties at the mouth of the Mississippi river, on general surveys and improvements of the Mississippi river and upon the construction of tramways and development of mines in Colorado.

In 1900 he was a member of the international jury of award at the Paris exposition, was United States delegate to the international congress of navigation and also United States delegate to the international congresses of merchant marine during the Paris exposition. For his participation in these congresses and distinguished services rendered at that time he received a decoration from the French government.

Col. Ockerman spent his youth on a farm in Illinois, entered the federal army at the age of fifteen and served two years during the civil war. Returning from the front he began preparation for college and graduated at the University of Illinois in 1873 as a civil and mining engineer. For 20 years he has been a resident of St. Louis.

In direct charge of the Graphic arts section is S. W. Belles, who has been engaged in the newspaper editing and publishing business all his life.

The graphic arts exhibit will occupy a section of the Liberal Art palace, one of the largest of the exhibit buildings at the universal exposition and one of the most striking in architectural feature. It has nine acres of floor space.

Besides the Graphic arts exhibit it will contain exhibits of photography, civil and military engineering, models, plans and designs for public works, architectural engineering, maps and apparatus for geography, cosmography, topography, instruments of precision, philosophical apparatus, coins and medals, musical instruments, electrical appliances and equipment, chemical and pharmaceutical arts and medicine and surgery.

There is no definition which covers in a few words the liberal arts. It is taken to mean, however, those things which are not yet come under the definition of art itself. The groups which will be exhibited in this department are in themselves the best definition of the term.

The location of the liberal arts building is of interest to the graphic arts section. One of the entrances is only a short distance from the Press building and the triumphal causeway passes the southwest side.

OLD-FASHIONED STEAMBOAT RACE.

On Mississippi River During World's Fair. Suggested by Sir Thomas Lipton.

An old-fashioned steamboat race, a common occurence in the prosperous days of the Mississippi river, with the fire belching out of the smokestacks and the boats going forward at a terrific rate of speed, is a suggestion which comes from across the Atlantic as an attraction for the World's Fair, St. Louis. George F. Parker, the World's Fair resident representative in London, writes that Sir Thomas Lipton has made the above suggestion as a drawing card for the fair. The plan no doubt grew out of the yacht-racing competions of Sir Thomas. The suggestion is of course very favorably regarded as one that would attract large crowds to the river's banks to witness such a stirring contest.

NEVER SUCH FIREWORKS.

Pyrotechnic Program for the World's Fair Dedication Ceremonies the Greatest Ever.

Work has begun on the vast system of frameworks for the great fireworks display at the occasion of the World's fair dedication ceremonies at St. Louis, April 30 next. Magnificent as have been former displays of fireworks at famous jubilees in Europe and America, these programs will far surpass all former efforts. Some of the set pieces are nearly a half mile long and 100 feet high. Many tons of explosives and chemical ingredients for producing the 1,000 feet from the ground and will be followed by salutes from 14 other balloons ranged on each side over a stretch of more than a quarter of a mile. Bombs and rockets will be set d fferent colors of fire are necessary h the manufacture of these novel features. The balloons to be used in one feature of the display are so large as to require three days for their inflation. Expert aeronauts are in charge of this number on the long program. One central balloon, much larger than the rest, will discharge the initial volley off by thousands and the sky will be brilliant with new things in fireworks. The program provides for two evenings of fireworks, a grandstand seating 30,000 people now being under construction from which to view the spectacle.

Acceptances have been received from President Roosevelt, former President Cleveland, the president's cabinet, the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, governors of states and other distinguished men. The first day, April 30, is dedication day; May 1 is diplomatic day, and May 2, governors' day. The military parade on April 30 will be composed of 15,000 to 20,000 troops, and the civic parade on May 2 will be equally large if not larger.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S VISIT TO DAKOTANS

Passes Through Burleigh County, North Dakota, Where He Was Sheriff 6 Years Ago—Prairie Chapel Crossroads Where Was on the Ranch Days.

By Associated Press.

Mandan, N. D., April 7.—President Roosevelt has been traveling through familiar country today, and has received hearty greetings wherever his train stopped. At many places he recognized old friends, and from his conversation it is evident that this has been one of the most enjoyable days of his trip. At Fargo, Jamestown and Bismarck, he made stops of from half an hour to an hour and discussed the conditions in the Philippines, the tariff and the general prosperity which the country is enjoying. Stops also were made at Castleton, Tower, Valley City, the home of Governor White; Dawson, Dickinson and Medora.

At Bismarck the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians 18 and 20 years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe of peace to the president, who had a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president at one time owned a ranch and which was his postoffice address 16 years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small place, but the ranchmen from the surrounding country had come into town and they gave a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, met the president at Bismarck and rode with him to Medora.

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS THREATENED WITH ARREST

By Associated Press.

Butte, April 7.—A Fort Yellowstone special says that plans for the reception and entertainment of President Roosevelt in the National park are completed.

Major Pitcher will meet the special train at Gardiner with troop C, Captain F. O. Johnson commanding, and will escort the president into the park. Troop C is the famous "Bay Troop" of the third United States cavalry, and has a world-wide reputation.

When the party alights from the train an ambulance and riding horses will be in waiting, and the start will be made at once for the fort inside the park.

Major Pitcher and two or three troopers will be with the president constantly in order to keep him in communication with the outside world. Newspaper correspondents will be accorded every courtesy, says Major Pitcher, as long as they obey the regulations that have been imposed. In case any of them attempt to enter the park or follow the president, they will be arrested and placed in the guard house, there to remain until after the president shall have finished his visit and departed.

President Charles Mellen, of the Northern Pacific railroad, has taken personal charge of the presidential trip in Montana. His car, acting as pilot, is to be run 15 minutes ahead of the train carrying the president and his party, and the special will be followed as long as the president travels over the lines of the Northern Pacific.

The presidential trail will reach Billings at 5:40 tomorrow morning, remaining in that city 10 minutes. The start will then be made for Livingstone, which place will be reached at 9 a. m. Here a stop of 15 minutes will be made, the training leaving at 9:15 over the Yellowstone Park branch.

Telegraph wires have been strung from Cinnabar to the park and over this wire all executive business will be handled.

THE SPEECH IN FULL

Fargo, N. D., April 7.—The President's here was as follows:

My Fellow-Citizens: The northwest, whose sons in the civil war added such brilliant pages to the honor roll of the republic, likewise bore a full share in the struggle of which the war with Spain was the beginning; a struggle slight indeed when compared with the gigantic death wrestle which for four years stamped to and fro across the southern states in the civil war; but a struggle fraught with consequences to the nation, and indeed to the world, out of all proportion to the smallness of the effort upon our part.

Three and a half years ago President McKinley spoke in the adjoining state of Minnesota on the occasion of the return of the Thirteenth Minnesota volunteers from the Philippine islands, where they had served with your own gallant sons of the North Dakota regiment. After heartily thanking the returned soldiers for their valor and patriotism, and their contemptuous refusal to be daunted or misled by the outcry raised at home by the men of little faith who wished to abandon the islands, he spoke of the islands themselves as follows:

"That congress will provide for them a government which will bring them blessings, which will promote their material interests as well as advance their people in the path of civilization and intelligence, I confidently believe. They will not be governed as vassals or serfs, or slaves. They will be given a government of liberty, regulated by law, honestly administered, without oppressing exactions, taxation without tyranny, justice without bribe, education without distinction of social condition, freedom of religious worship, and protection in life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

What he said then lay in the realm of promise. Now it lies in the realm of fruitive performance.

It is a fine thing to look back, upon what has been said and compare it with the record of what has actually been done. If the promises are verified, if pledged word is not kept, then those who have failed in their duty should be held up to reproation. If, on the other hand, the promises have been substantially made good; if the achievement has kept pace and more than kept pace with the prophesy, then they who made the one and are responsible for the other are entitled of just right to claim the credit which attaches to those who serve the nation well. This credit I claim for the men who have managed so admirably the military and the civil affairs of the Philippine islands, and for those other men who have so heartily backed them in congress, and without whose aid and support not one thing could have been accomplished.

When President McKinley spoke, the first duty was the restoration of order; and to this end the use of the army of the United States as army composed of regulars and volunteers alike—was necessary. To put down the insurrection and restore peace to the islands was a duty not only to ourselves but to the islanders also. We could not have abandoned the conflict without shirking this duty, without proving ourselves recreants to the memory of our forefathers. Moreover, if we had abandoned it we would have inflicted upon the Filipinos the most cruel wrong and would have doomed them to a bloody jumble of anarchy and tyranny. It seems strange, looking back, that any of our people should have failed to recognize a duty so obvious; but there was such failure, and the government at home, the civil authorities of the Philippines, and above all our gallant army, had to do their work amid a storm of detraction. The army in especial was attacked in a way which finally did good, for in the end it aroused the hearty resentment of the great body of the American people, not against the army, but against the army's traducers. The circumstance of the war made it one of peculiar difficulty, and our soldiers were exposed to peculiar wrongs from their foes. They fought in dense tropical jungles against foes very treacherous and very cruel, not only toward our own men, but toward the great number of friarly natives, the most peaceable and most civilized among whom eagerly welcomed our rule. Under such circumstances, among a hundred thousand hot-blooded and powerful young men serving in small detachments on the other side of the globe, it was impossible that occasional instances of wrongdoing should not occur. The fact that they occurred in retaliation for well-nigh intolerable provocation can not for one moment be admitted in the way of excuse or justification. All good Americans regret and deplore them, and the war department has taken every step in its power to punish the offenders and to prevent or minimize the chance of repetition of the offense. But these offenses were the exception and not the rule. As a whole our troops showed not only signal courage and efficiency, but great humanity and the most sincere desire to promote the welfare and liberties of the islanders. In a series of exceedingly harassing and difficult campaigns they completely overthrew the enemy, reducing them finally to a condition of mere brigandage; and wherever they conquered, they conquered only to make way for the rule of the civil government, for the introduction of law, and of liberty under the law. When, by last July, the last vestige of organized insurrection had disappeared, peace and amnesty were proclaimed.

As rapidly as the military rule was extended over the islands by the defeat of the insurgents, just so rapidly was it replaced by the civil government. At the present time the civil government is supreme and the army in the Philippines has been reduced until it is sufficient merely to provide against the recurrence of trouble. In Governor Taft and his associates we sent to the Filipinos as upright, as conscientious and as able a group of administrators as ever any country has been blessed with having. With them and under them we have associated the best among the Filipinos, so that the great majority of the officials, including many of the highest rank, are the native natives of the islands. The administration is incorruptibly honest; justice is as jealously safeguarded as here at home. The government is conducted purely in the interests of the people of the islands; they are protected in their religious and civil rights; they have been given an excellent and well administered school system, and each of them now enjoys rights to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" such as were never before known in all the history of the islands.

The congress which has just adjourned has passed legislation of high importance and great wisdom in the interests of the Filipino people. First and foremost, they conferred upon them by law the present admirable civil government; in addition they gave them an excellent currency; they passed a measure allowing the organization of a native constabulary; and they provided, in the interests of the islands, for a reduction of 25 per cent. in the tariff on Filipino articles brought to this country. I asked that a still further reduction should be made. It was not granted by the last congress, but I think that in some shape it will be granted by the next. And even without it, the record of legislation in the interests of the Filipinos is one with which we have a right to feel great satisfaction. million dollars, following the precedent it set when the people of Porto Rico were afflicted by sudden disaster; this money to be used by the Philippine government in order to meet the distress occasioned primarily by the terrible cattle disease which almost annihilated the carabao or water-buffalo, the chief and most important domestic animal in the islands. Coming as this disaster did upon the heel of the havoc wrought by the insurrectionary war great suffering has been caused; and this misery for which this government is in no way responsible will doubtless in turn increase the difficulties of the Philippine government for the next year or so. In consequence there will doubtless, here and there occur sporadic increases of the armed brigandage to which the islands have been habituated from time immemorial, and here and there for their own purposes the bandits may choose to style themselves patriots or insurrectionists; but these local difficulties will be of little consequence save as they give occasion to a few men here at home again to try to mislead our people. Not only has the military problem in the Philippines been worked out quicker and better than we had dared to expect, but the progress socially and in civil government has likewise exceeded our fondest hopes.

The best thing that can be done in handling such a problem as that in the Philippines, so peculiar, so delicate, so difficult and so remote, is to put the best man possible in charge and then give him the heartiest possible support, and the freest possible hand. This is what has been done with Governor Taft. There is not in this nation a higher or finer type of public servant than Governor Taft. He has rendered, literally, inestimable service, not only to the people of the Philippine Islands, but also to the people of the United States by what he has done in those islands. He has been able to do it because from the beginning he has been given absolute support by the war department, under Secretary Root. With the cessation of organized resistance, the civil government assumed its proper position of headship. The army in the Philippines is now one of the instruments through which Governor Taft does his admirable work. The civil government, of which Governor Taft is head, is supreme, and it will do well in the future as it has in the past, because it will be backed up in the future as it has been in the past.

Remember always that in the Philippines the American government has tried and is trying to carry out exactly what the greatest genius and most revered patriot ever known in the Philippine islands—Jose Rizal—steadfastly advocated. This man, shortly before his death in a message to his countrymen, under date of December 18, 1896, condemned unsparingly the insurrection of Aguinaldo, terminated just before our navy appeared upon the scene, and pointed out the path his people should follow to liberty and enlightenment. Speaking of the insurrection and of the pretense that Filipino independence of a wholesome character could thereby be obtained, he wrote:

"When in spite of my advice, a movement was begun, I offered of my own accord, not only my services, but my life and even my good name to be used in any way they might believe effective in stifling the rebellion. I thought of the disaster which would follow the success of the revolution, and I deemed myself fortunate if by any sacrifice I could block the progress of such a useless calamity.

"My countrymen, I have given proof that I was one who sought liberty for our country and I still seek it. But as a first step I insisted upon the development of the people in order that, by means of education and of labor, they might acquire the proper individual character and force which would make them worthy of it. In my writings I have commended to you study and civic virtue, without which our redemption does not exist. . . . I cannot do less than condemn, and I do condemn, this absurd and savage insurrection planned behind my back, which dishonors us before the Filipinos and discredits us with those who otherwise would argue in our behalf. I abominate its cruelties and disavow any kind of connection with it, regretting with all the sorrow of my soul that these reckless men have allowed themselves to be deceived. Let them return, then, to their homes, and may God pardon those who have acted in bad faith."

This language embodied precisely and exactly the avowed policy upon which the American government has acted in the Philippines. What the patriot Rizal said with such force in speaking of the insurrection before it came to the islands applies with tenfold greater force to those who foolishly or wickedly opposed the mild and beneficent government we were instituting in the islands. The judgment of the martyred patriot, public servant, Rizal, whose birthday the Filipino people celebrate, and which they worship as that of a hero and ideal, sets forth the duty of American sovereignty; a duty from which the American people will never flinch.

While we have been doing these great and beneficent works in the islands, we have yet been steadily reducing the cost at which they are done. The last congress repealed the law for the war taxes, and the war department has reduced the army from the maximum number of one hundred thousand allowed under the law to very nearly the minimum of sixty thousand.

Moreover, the last Congress enacted some admirable legislation affecting the army, passing first of all the militia bill and then the bill to create a general staff. The militia bill represents the realization of a reform which had been championed ineffectively by Washington, and had been fruitlessly agitated ever since. At last we have taken from the statute books the obsolete militia law of the revolutionary days and have provided for efficient aid to the national guard of the states. I believe that no other great country has such fine natural material for volunteer soldiers as we have, and it is the obvious duty of the nation and of the states to make such provision as will enable this volunteer soldiery to be organized with all possible rapidity and efficiency in time of war; and, furthermore, to help in every way the national guard in time of peace. The militia law enacted by the congress marks the first long step ever taken in this direction by the national government. The general staff law is of immense importance and benefit to the regular army. Individually, I would not admit that the American regular, either officer or enlisted man, is inferior to any other regular soldier in the world. In fact, if it were worth while to bother, I should be tempted to say that he was the best. But, there must be proper training, proper organization and administration, in order to get the best service out of even the best troops. This is particularly the case with such a small army as ours, scattered over so vast a country. We do not need a large regular army, but we do need to have our small regular army the very best that can possibly be produced. Under the worn-out and ineffective organization which has hitherto existed, a sudden strain is absolutely certain to produce the dislocation and confusion we saw at the outbreak of the war with Spain; and when such dislocation and confusion occurs it is easy and natural, but entirely improper, to blame the men who happen to be in office, instead of the system which is really responsible. Under the law just enacted by congress this system will be changed immensely for the better, and every patriotic American ought to rejoice; for when we come to the army and the navy we deal with the honor and interests of all our people; and when such is the case party lines are as nothing, and we all stand shoulder to shoulder as Americans, moved only by pride in and love for our common country.

SENATE AND HOUSE APPROPRIATION

Disagreement Arises Because of Differences in Phraseology—Senator Ward Denounces the House for Juggling With Eight-hour Bill.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, April 7.—The senate adjourned this morning at 7 o'clock, the house at 8, an agreement having been reached by the conference committee on the general appropriation bill, after hours of wrangling. Two other committees had failed to concur, the amount agreed upon by the last committee being but $5,000 less than the amount recommended by the first committee.

There is much contention as to the legality of the appropriation, because of the manner in which it was passed. The lower body in its haste to adjourn to prevent going on record as opposing the eight-hour bill, caused an adjournment before the appropriation bill had been signed by Lieutenant Governor Haggott. The contention is made that President Haggott could not legally sign the bill after the house had adjourned, and protests to that effect have been made by senators. The cause of the house adjourning before the senate was the effort of senators to get a report from the committee which had the eight-hour law under consideration. Representatives dreaded going on record as being against the bill, and for this reason took an adjournment. All the blame for the defeat of the eight-hour law is charged to the house, although it is the contention of some people that neither party wanted to keep its pledges and pass an effective measure. The action of the senate has demonstrated the sincerity of Democrats in the matter. They did everything in their power to have a good eight-hour bill passed, but the attitude of the Republican house was evasive on this question from the beginning of the session. The senate even resorted to the only weapon left to compel the eight-hour bill's consideration, and that was the appropriation bill. It was the intention of senators to use this as a club to force action, but the house managed to keep the eight-hour bill in committee, and in this roundabout way caused its death by suffocation. Republicans feared killing it in open session, and selected this method as the only one likely to afford a better opening and escape from severe criticism.

Senator Ward declares that the tumultuous scenes at the close of the session were directly caused by the actions of the house in its juggling of the eight-hour bill. In speaking of the matter this morning, he said:

"It was the intention of the senate to hold up the general appropriation bill in order to compel the house to pass an eight-hour law, but later the senate was led to believe that the house was in line, and we abandoned the idea of keeping the appropriation measure in the background, adopting the report of the joint conference committee. The first conference committee on the Stephens eight-hour bill disagreed. Then the senate asked the house for the appointment of another committee on conference. We were informed that the house would take up a second eight-hour law conference committee at once, but just at the time the report of the conference committee on the general appropriation bill came in, and believing the house was sincere and was going to proceed with another conference on the Stephens bill, we immediately adopted the report of the appropriation conference.

"Directly afterward we heard that the house was preparing to adjourn, so as fast as we could write, Senator Finch and myself fixed up a protest to the house's action in adjourning without notifying the senate, an act which in my mind is purely illegal. We filed our protests in the senate, but I do not know whether they reached the house or not. At any rate, the house a short time later adjourned sine die, leaving both the eight-hour bill and the senate protests in the air, so to speak. In regard to the general appropriation bill, which the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house signed, I would say that this bill was in skeleton form. It was not the enrolled bill as amended by the conference committee. The constitution requires that the lieutenant governor sign only enrolled bills, and then in the presence of the senate. It is my contention that this is not the enrolled bill.

"The appropriation bill will be loaded until someone attacks it in court. If no one should bring a suit to test the legality of this measure, it would be all right for the auditor to draw warrants on the measure. The work of the enrollment committee today is purely illegal in my mind, as the committee's career ended with the session, and has no authority now to fill in the skeleton bill."

Republicans, in return for the charges made in connection with the eight-hour bill, claim that the Democrats have been exerting every effort to force an extra session.

The governor and officials at the state house were at their offices all night last night, and there were several conferences between the governor and Attorney General Miller, with the view of determining whether or not the appropriation bill was legal. It was the attorney general's opinion that as long as the bill is properly recorded in the journals of the senate and house, the bill is legal.

GENERAL STRIKE IMMINENT

By Associated Press.

Rome, April 7.—The meeting of workmen called last evening and which lasted throughout the night, decided to abandon for the present the idea of inaugurating a general strike.

Although a general strike will be attempted tomorrow, notwithstanding last night's decision, success is considered to be doubtful. While possibly 40,000 workmen may strike, and not all of them willingly, they will lack the support of the remainder of the workmen and the population, numbering 500,000, who will be irritated at the financial loss caused by the suspension of work. The government is determined to allow the liberty to strike, but will also insure liberty for those wishing to work. Seven thousand and more troops have been moved here, principally cavalry, who are being kept in readiness. Mounted patrols are inspecting the outlying quarters, keeping in constant touch with the main bodies of the troops. The center of the town maintains its usual aspect to such a degree that many foreigners who cannot read the Italian papers are still ignorant of the proclamation calling for a strike tomorrow. Those foreigners, however, who have heard the news are beginning to leave town in annoyance.

That no important developments are expected to arise out of tomorrow's strike is shown by the fact that the king left the city today for his shooting lodge, while Premier Zanardelli and Minister Giolitti have both left Rome for the Easter holidays.

[illegible] CONFERENCE

By Associated Press.

Bismarck, N. D., April 7.—Meeting in the private office of Governor White at the state capital this afternoon, President Roosevelt received the assurance of the friendship and support of the great Sioux Indian tribe, and similar assurances from the chiefs of the Mandans and Gros Ventres. Twenty of the most distinguished chieftains of the tribe had come from their agencies to see the great father and assure him of their support and good will. There were many famous Indians in the assemblage. John Grass, the orator and chief justice of the Sioux made the presentation of the tribe's good will in a translation of the address which had been agreed upon in council of the chiefs. At the same time Grass presented to the president a peace pipe of a difficulty carved pipestone, in token of the good will and friendship of the Indians. Among the chiefs were Red Tomahawk, the Indian who killed Sitting Bull at the time of the uprising in the early '90s, Redfish, one of the hereditary leaders of the Sioux, Black Bull, Standing Bear, Crow Chief, Crow Bear and other Sioux chiefs.

"We have been treated well by the great father," said Grass, "and we hope he will again be great father." The war chief of the Mandan Indians also presented written assurances of the good will of his people.

"Tell him," said President Roosevelt, through the interpreter, "that I am glad to see him. The Mandan Indians have always done well."

Then the old wrinkled chieftains grasped the president's hand and solemnly grunted their approval. The president's train reached the capital city of the state on time and the president and party were immediately taken through lavishly decorated streets to the state capitol. Three immense portraits of the president were arranged on three sides of the stands, representing the president at the ranch, at San Juan and at the White house. At the capitol a brief reception was held in the private office of Governor White, where the president met and shook hands with many of the friends of his ranch days. Following the reception he delivered a brief address from the balcony of the capitol to a crowd of several thousand people, assembled from all parts of the Missouri slope.

"I am in old territory of this state," said the president. "I lived here years ago and feel that I am in old times." Continuing, he expressed his satisfaction at seeing so many of the old friends of his western days, and said he expected to see more of his old friends as he continued northward. He paid a special compliment to the soldiers of the civil and Philippine wars who were present to greet him.

"I know the people of the west," he said. "There are two ways to deal with them, by working with him or by trying with him, and on the rangers the men with whom I have worked and with whom I have fought."

Concluding, the president laid stress upon personal responsibility and moral effort as the essentials in all doing and public life. Upon the conclusion of his address the president was again called on to meet a number of old friends, and after a five minute review the members of the party entered their carriages and were driven back to the station, passing on route the scene of a barbecue where 2 steers and a number of sheep were being roasted for the attending crowds. At the station the president was given an ovation and as far as the train could be seen he waved his farewell to the crowd with his old friends had gone right head.

President Roosevelt stopped long enough at the Exposition to receive some sandwiches of roast beef and bread, which he ate while enjoying the scenery. He said to members of the committee: "You have put me great of enjoyment on my trip. I know so many of you here and seems familiar to me. I cannot think enough for the pleasure you have given me."

SUBSIDIARY COINAGE FOR THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 7.—The war department has been in conference with Governor Taft by cable in reference to the subsidiary coinage for the Philippine islands. Secretary Root has requested the treasury department to make arrangements for coining subsidiary silver in the same manner as for coining the pesos. Governor Taft has recommended the coining of ten million fifty centavos, 12,500,000 twenty five centavos, 15,000,000 ten centavos, 10,000,000 five centavos, 30,000,000 one centavos and 30,000,000 half centavos, making a total of 9,950,000 pesos out of a total of 60,000,000 pesos of currency.

The treasury department has purchased for Philippine coinage 1,170,000 ounces of silver at a cost of $533,032. This bullion will coin 1,452,426 pesos.

STATEMENT OF EARNINGS OF U. S. STEEL CORPORATION

By Associated Press.

New York, April 7.—According to a statement given out today by the board of directors, the net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the first quarter of the calendar year, March estimated, after deduction of outlays for repairs, renewals, maintenance of plant, interest on bonds and fixed charges, were $24,656,138. The net earnings for the first quarter last year were $28,279,599, showing a decrease for the first quarter of this year of $1,623,463. After deducting amounts set aside for sinking funds, depreciation and reserve funds, there was a balance of net earnings for the quarter of $21,551,189. There was a further deduction for interest on the corporation bonds and sinking fund for the same bonds, leaving a balance of $16,991,189. After paying the dividend of the preferred and common stock there was left undivided profits for the quarter of $2,959,524. The quarter's earnings show a decrease, and in a foot note the decrease, as compared with the same period last year, was attributed largely to the railroad congestion which prevented prompt delivery.

Unfilled orders on the books for manufactured products April 1 were 5,410,719 tons. The preferred dividend is payable May 15, the common June 30.

GOVERNMENT DAIRY EXPERT WILL VISIT COLORADO

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Kans., April 7.—Prof. Edward H. Webster, special inspector and dairy expert for the United States department of agriculture, left today for western Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska, to spend several weeks upon the territory assigned to him by the government.

Mr. Webster will visit all dairy sections in this region; will inspect stations, make experiments in testing, separating and receiving cream. It is the intention of the government to make this work practical and of direct benefit to the dairymen in this region.

NO FEE FOR INSPECTION OF COLORADO CATTLE

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Kas., April 7.—The Kansas live stock sanitary board officially announces that there will be no fee for the inspection of cattle entering Kansas from Colorado. On account of the recent quarantine for Texas fever, Colorado shippers thought they would have to pay two cents per head inspection fee. Inquiry was made of the board and the decision resulted.

BAKING POWDER MAN CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO BRIBE

By Associated Press.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 7.—Daniel Kelly who represents a baking powder combination and who endeavored to prevent the passage of a bill repealing the law which prohibits the use of alum in the manufacture of baking powder during the session of the legislature just ended, registered at a hotel here under the name of "Brown."

His arrest in New York today was on information of Attorney General Crow on a check for $1,000 given to that official by Lieutenant Governor John A. Lee with the information that it was tendered Lee to use his influence in the senate to defeat the bill. Lieutenant Governor Lee stated to Attorney General Crow that he refused a cash proposition made in person by Kelly and that Kelly returned to New York and mailed him a check for $1,000. Thereupon Attorney General Crow today wired the chief of police in New York to arrest Kelly, which was done.

NOT UP TO STANDARD.

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 7.—Another chapter of investigation of affairs at the postoffice department was furnished today when charges were filed with acting Postmaster General Wynne against M. W. Lewis, chief of the division of supplies. The charges allege that the hand stamps and ink pads now being supplied to postoffices under the present contract are inferior goods and not up to the contract standard.

[illegible] WRIGHT MEDAL [illegible]

Principal Meyers of the High school yesterday made his selection of judges for the annual declamation contest for the Edward F. Wright medal, in which young men of the school will compete Friday evening. The judges will be Prof. R. H. Ritchie of Colorado college, Rev. L. E. Brown of the First Christian church and Karl C. Schuyler, the attorney, of this city.

The medal which is offered this year by Mr. Wright to be contested for by the young men students of the High school, is now on exhibition in the office of Superintendent Dietrich, of the city schools. The medal is of the usual attractive design and is engraved with appropriate inscriptions. The second prize, also offered by Mr. Wright, is a copy of Milton's "L'Allegro."

The eight young men who are entered for the contest have been practicing faithfully on their declamations. In addition to the eight declamations the program will contain several musical numbers. Prof. F. I. Walker of the High school faculty will give a cornet solo.

HARPER UNION WILL ENTERTAIN THE BOYS

Harpers W. C. T. U. will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at St. John's Baptist church. It will be a boy's meeting and every boy between the ages of 8 and 16 is cordially invited to attend as the guest of the union. The women of the union have been working for the betterment of the condition of the girls and are now giving attention to the boys to induce them to lead upright, honest lives.

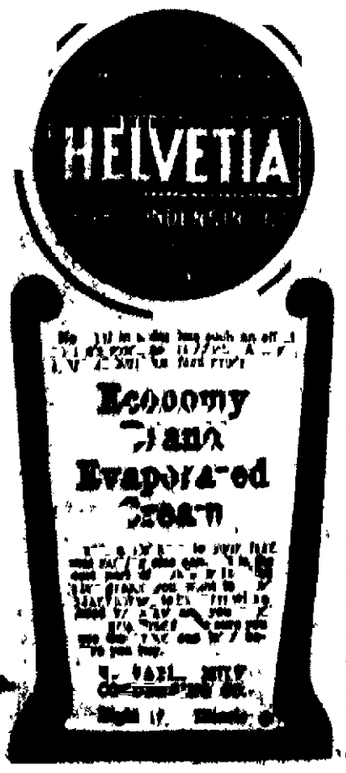
The program will be rendered by the boys at 8 o'clock sharp. Seats will be reserved for the boys. The following is the program: Invocation, Rev. Mr. Burleigh; music, Frank Jones; address, Prof. J. H. Jackson; recitation, Clyde Greenway; vocal solo, Joseph Robb; oration, Alfred Booker; recitation, Noumal Lee; vocal solo, Lee Gatewood; address, A. C. Bray; recitation, Floyd Hanger; address, Rev. Mr. Burleigh; song, union; address, Rev. Mr. Gladden; Silver offering.

GLEE CLUBS LEAVE ON WESTERN TOUR TODAY

The Colorado College Glee and Mandolin clubs will leave on their annual tour of the state this morning. The start was to have been made yesterday morning but owing to the canceling of the concert that was to have been given at Florence the clubs did not leave until today. The first concert will be given at Canon City this evening. From Canon City the organizations will go westward, giving concerts at different towns on the western slope. The tour will last about two weeks. Later dates will be arranged for towns in the northern part of the state and the season will end with concerts in Pueblo and this city.

PHYSICIANS WILL MEET AND APPOINT COMMITTEE

At the regular monthly meeting of the El Paso County Medical society to be held this evening at the Cliff house in Manitou, a committee will be appointed to represent the physicians of the county in the matter of securing the proposed training school for nurses for Colorado college. The medical profession of El Paso county is strongly in favor of the project and it is for the purpose of lending all possible assistance in the matter that the committee will be appointed. A committee of about 15 members of the society will be appointed to confer with the Colorado college authorities.



[illegible] NEW [illegible]

The money for the proposed German Lutheran church building has been subscribed and work will be started on the structure during the present month. Plans for the building which is to be erected at the southwest corner of Boulder street and Wahsatch avenue, are now in the hands of the architect. The edifice will be thoroughly modern and will be one of the best of the smaller churches in the city. It will cost between $3,000 and $6,000. The church owns a lot 100x50 on the corner. It is understood that General Palmer generously contributed towards the $2,200 of the purchase price. The congregation has been meeting in the county court room. Rev. Mr. Luessenhop is pastor.

[illegible]

Easter vacation at Colorado college will begin at noon today and will continue until next Thursday morning. A number of the students residing in the state will leave today to spend the vacation with friends and relatives. The students leaving the city will carry with them a number of the little pamphlets recently issued to advertise the college and will endeavor to get new students for the institution. During vacation week the Glee and Mandolin clubs will make their annual tour and the baseball team will make a short hunt out of the city in search of victories from other baseball aggregations of the state.

President W. F. Slocum will spend the week in the east, having left for Iowa on Monday.

FALLING HAIR STOPPED

Baldness Cured by Destroying the Parasite Germ That Causes It

Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff, and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair and lastly baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has proven wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. You destroy the cause, you remove the effect.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The funeral services over the remains of John B. Hobbs who died Monday afternoon at his residence, 11 East Garfield street, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church. Rev. Edward Boaldin will officiate. It was first announced that the services would be held at the Fairley undertaking rooms. Interment will be made at Evergreen cemetery. The deceased leaves a wife, four sons and five daughters. All but two of the family will be present at the funeral. John Hobbs of this city is a son of the deceased.

A Physician Writes

"I am desirous of knowing if the profession can obtain Herbine in bulk for prescribing purposes." It has been of great use to me in treating cases of dyspepsia brought on by excess or overwork. MEYER LEAVES TAKING AWAY GOOD IMPRESSION

H. Meyer, the member of the international committee of the Carpenters and Joiners International union, who has been spending the past two days in this city, in the interest of the international union, went to Denver yesterday. Mr. Meyer is on his way to the meeting of the committee which is to be held in Indianapolis Friday of this week. He will make one stop after he leaves Denver, which will be at Kansas City.

The international home proposition will come up for consideration at the meeting of the executive committee, and the local carpenters believe that Mr. Meyer's report will be very favorable to Colorado Springs as a site for the proposed home. Mr. Meyer may pass through this city when he returns from the committee meeting to his home in San Mateo, California.

OUTLINES OBSERVANCE OF ARBOR DAY IN SCHOOLS

Superintendent Dietrich of the public schools has received from Mrs. Helen L. Grenfell, state superintendent of public instruction, a copy of the little booklet that has been issued by her urging upon the teachers of the state to properly celebrate Arbor day. The day this year falls on April 17. The booklet contains a copy of Governor Peabody's proclamation, a statement to the teachers of the state, a request of the school children to assist in making the day a special holiday, and a number of programs and subjects for essays, which may be used by the schools in observing the day.

Appropriate exercises will be held in all the city schools.

REVES MAY BE HEARD LAST

Action of French Chamber of Deputies Likely to Lead to the Reopening of the Case and the Entire Rehabilitation of the Former Captain.

By Associated Press

Paris, April 7.—It seems that the debate in the chamber of deputies yesterday and today which resulted by a vote of 281 to 228 in the invalidation of the election of the Nationalist deputy Syveton, is likely also to lead to the re-opening of the Dreyfus case and perhaps to the rehabilitation of the former prisoner of Devil's Island. This is mainly due to two facts brought out by the Socialist leader, M. Jaurès in the course of the debate. One is a falsified document bearing alleged annotations by the German emperor which were forgeries and which helped to convict Dreyfus, and the other is that the letter written by General Peilleux to M. Cavaignac when the latter was war minister in 1898 was suppressed. This letter was written just after the discovery of Colonel Henry's forgery and reads as follows:

"Dared by men without honor unable any longer to count on the confidence of my subordinates without which it is impossible to command and on my side being unable to feel confidence in those of my chiefs who have made me work with forgeries I ask to be retired."

M. Jaurès speech in the chamber constantly lashed the Nationalists to the highest pitch of fury, the chamber resounding with cries of "Traitor," "Liar," "Go to Berlin" and other shouts, drowning the speaker's voice. M. Jaurès finally concluded with the assertion that the Republicans have the right to condemn this abominable campaign against the republic and denounce to the declining Nationalist party that its attitude today cannot excuse its evil deeds of yesterday. If the chamber tolerates it it will be a stigma on our conscience and the shame of our regime.

Mr. Jaurès had hardly left the tribune before War Minister Andrew plunged into the midst of the bitter, angry debate then proceeding and announced that the government was ready to open an administrative inquiry and aid in the widest investigation of the truth regarding the Dreyfus case. General Andre declared that the honor of the army was not involved but, that the conscience of the country was greatly disturbed by the appearance of extenuating circumstances in the judgment on a crime of the nature of which Dreyfus was accused. He said he did not wish to take sides and was ready to proceed with an investigation and he would seek the assistance of magistrates in the examination of the dossiers.

PENNELL INQUEST TO BE HELD NEXT FRIDAY

By Associated Press.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 7.—The inquest into the death of Arthur Pennell, which is scheduled to begin next Friday before Judge Murphy will be more in the nature of a reopening of the inquiry into the Burdick murder mystery than to determine whether Pennell's death was due to accident or a deliberate suicide.

District Attorney Coatsworth has announced that he will subpoena J. Frederick Pennell, administrator of the Pennell estate and brother of the dead man, Thomas Penny attorney for the estate, and Wallace Thayer, who was Pennell's confidential friend and adviser for years.

"I intend at the Pennell inquest to virtually reopen the Burdick inquest. During that inquiry I shall endeavor with the consent of the court to bring out as much information as possible tending to clear up the Burdick mystery. I believe that the evidence brought out in the Pennell inquest will be of value as bearing on the murder," said District Attorney Coatsworth.

"Then you do not consider that the Burdick case was closed with the Burdick inquest?" Mr. Coatsworth was asked.

"By no means," was the reply. "I have never considered the Burdick case as being closed."

"Do you consider that the revelations just made concerning Pennell's alleged swindles substantiate the verdict in the Burdick case pointing to Pennell as the murderer?"

"Yes. It is impossible to arrive at any other conclusion. I do not consider that the defalcation has any direct bearing on the murder or connects Pennell in any direct way with the crime. It could hardly be considered as a motive. I do not intend to talk for publication on the workings of my mind in arriving at the conclusion that these revelations point clearer than ever before, but in my judgment they do."

Mr. Coatsworth said it probably would not be possible at the Pennell inquest to bring out the story of Pennell's alleged defalcations.

"It could hardly be claimed that they have any material bearing on the case," said Mr. Coatsworth. "It is possible the story of Pennell's dishonesty will never be made known in an official way."

There is sure to be a bitter fight at the Pennell inquest over the authority of the court to compel the administrator and his attorney to testify and produce the dead man's papers. It is asserted on one side that the inquest is for the exclusive purpose of establishing the cause of death and prove a crime if there was one. It is said the court will have no right to inquire into the financial affairs of Pennell or take testimony bearing on the Burdick murder.

"I shall insist that every bit of information be brought out," said Mr. Coatsworth. "The court can compel Mr. Pennell and Mr. Penny to testify and produce papers. I am going to find out about this Burdick murder. I do not care a rap whether Pennell committed suicide or not."

The long statement written by Arthur R. Pennell on the day before his death will be produced at the inquest next Friday. The authorities can lay their hands upon it at any moment they desire. In this statement Pennell declared that he had no part in the murder of Edwin L. Burdick, that an unknown woman was in Burdick's den on the night of February 20, and that Burdick was murdered by that woman.

The Equitable Life Insurance company which issued policies on the life of Pennell within a year to the amount of $45,000 announced that the insurance would not be paid until after the Pennell inquest and that it might not be paid then.

Pennell altogether had taken out insurance to the amount of $100,000 in the Equitable. The company paid $55,000 of that amount to the estate. The $45,000 which it now refuses to pay, was taken out within a year and therefore comes under the one year suicide clause.

It is very likely that Mrs. Burdick will be forced to make a hard fight before she secures the $25,000 life insurance which Pennell arranged to have paid to Wallace Thayer in trust for her. There certainly will be a lawsuit over it and Mr. Thayer will be compelled under the law to establish the validity of the trust. It is declared that the trust is not valid for the reason that no bond or other security for it ever was actually passed between Pennell and Mrs. Burdick.

KANSAS MAY DROP THE SUIT AGAINST COLORADO

By Associated Press

Topeka, Kas., April ... Governor Bailey is considering the advisability of dropping the suit brought by Kansas against Colorado for the right to the waters of the Arkansas river. He said today he would "investigate the desires of the people along the Arkansas valley in regard to the matter and will act accordingly." The last legislature made an appropriation of $50,000 to fight the case.

LIQUOR DEALERS' BOYCOTT ON NEW YORK FARMERS

By Associated Press

New York, April 7.—Resolutions were passed today by district No. 1 of the central body of the Retail Liquor Dealers association boycotting all products of the New York state farmers by the hotels, restaurants and saloons in the district bounded by Broadway, Fulton street and the East river, after May 1. The district contains about 200 saloons, about half of which are in connection with restaurants.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York city brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Marketmen, grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on liquor dealers.

In bringing about such a boycott the saloon keepers have two objects in view. First to exercise in a measure a long felt prejudice against the rural legislators and second to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel resentment to Governor Odell, to whose influence the liquor men attribute the passage of the new tax.

English and American After-Dinner Speaking

The English are, without exception, the greatest public-dinner givers in the world, yet few of them master more than the alphabet of postprandial speech making. On Monday they were by contrast particularly weak. The duke of Devonshire, who proposed Mr. Roosevelt's health, the marquis of Londonderry and Sir Edward Poynter, who replied to the toast of "Success to the Exhibit of the United Kingdom at St. Louis 1904," seemed mere amateurs of oratory by the side of the polished easy eloquence of Mr. Choate, ex-Governor Francis and Mr. John Barrett. Speechifying of whatever kind is a bore of the first magnitude to the duke of Devonshire. But on Monday the atmosphere of good-fellowship prevailed even against his constitutional languor, and the speech in which he gave the president's health was as near being sprightly and committed as any I have heard him deliver. Even the duke himself seemed to take a far off detached interest in what he was saying, in almost unknown phenomenon in him for to do him justice he is always the first to yawn at his own speeches. But the speech of the evening was unquestionably Mr. Choate's. London society demands eloquence from the representative of America so insistently that it has occasionally paid the penalty of being glutted with it. This is not the case with Mr. Choate, who never says too much and never lets his fluency run away with him. There is another pitfall which he instinctively avoids. He never makes the mistake of praising Englishmen to their face. The only American ambassador I know of with whom England got slightly bored was one who, with the best intentions in the world, was forever soft-soaping England and English ways of doing things. Mr. Choate has a nicer appreciation of what it is Englishmen like best. With admirable tact and skill he quietly pokes fun at them, and scores good-humored points at their expense. His argument on Monday that Napoleon sold Louisiana to the United States to prevent England from getting it, that Americans were therefore really indebted to England for the purchase, and that England in consequence lay under a heavy obligation to make the St. Louis exposition a success was worked out in the best vein and spirit of American humor. It was immensely relished by the audience, being precisely the sort of point that came with far more effect from an American than an Englishman if, indeed, an Englishman would have had the courage and mental agility to make it. The fact that Mr. Choate did not hesitate shows, as all his speeches do, how perfectly he is grounded on the oratorical side of his position.—(Harper's Weekly.)

EXECUTORS WILL NOW PROCEED TO CARRY OUT PROVISIONS OF THE WILL

Money Has Been Paid to Harry Stratton, and Settlement Made with His Attorneys—The Myron Stratton Home Will Now Claim Attention of the Executors.

The final act in the closing of the Stratton will contest was performed yesterday by paying over to J. Harry Stratton the contestant the sum of $350,000, as agreed upon in the compromise, and by the verdict of the jury which declared the instrument filed by the executors to have been the last will and testament of Winfield S. Stratton, deceased, and executed when the testator was of sound and disposing mind and memory. This action forever precludes any claim against the estate on the part of J. Harry Stratton and lifts one of the obstacles that has been in the way of the carrying out of the provisions of the will. The funds were turned over to Young, Stratton at the Exchange National bank yesterday shortly before noon and the verdict of the jury was entered at 1:45 o'clock.

The order directing the money to be paid over by the executors was made by Judge Orr yesterday morning and is now part of the records of the county court.

Under the provisions of the order the executors are directed to pay half of the costs of the suit in the district court, a modification of the original agreement which stipulated that the entire amount of the costs should be paid out of the sum mentioned in the agreement. A stipulation was filed with the clerk of the district court after the verdict of the jury had been rendered, signed by the attorneys for both sides, in which the terms of the agreement were set forth. It is the formal recognition of the compromise so far as the attorneys are concerned.

Jurors Surprised

When the instructions were read to the jurors after they were called from the jury room where they had been confined since Saturday night a look of blank astonishment pervaded their countenances. They were all expecting a session of several weeks and the speedy termination of proceedings found them in a perplexed frame of mind. When they were seen after their discharge most of them were unable to realize that the case had come to an end and they still imagined the instructions of the court relative to their talking on the subject to be in force, and most of them refused to say what their opinion would have been had they been permitted to bring in a verdict without instructions.

Z. D. Brandt, however, declared strongly that if there had be no further evidence and the case had been submitted to the jury for their verdict upon the testimony offered he would have voted to sustain the will and expressed his opinion that the rest of the jury would have been with him. He stated that he was much impressed with the terms of the will.

Juror G. M. Meads had lost his spectacles during his confinement and could not see to sign his name when the verdict was handed to the jurors for their signatures.

R. Gloetzner was selected as foreman of the jury and his name appears on the verdict as such.

Dr. D. H. Rice stated yesterday that the executors would have to settle up the estate completely before they could begin work on the Myron Stratton home. All the beneficiaries under the will will have to be paid according to its provisions and all claims against the estate either paid off or defeated. The largest of these claims now being pushed by the Venture corporation which is claiming for $8,000,000.

The administrators to collect who were appointed to take charge of the estate during the contest of the will will wind up their connection with the matter in a few days and the executors mentioned in the will will be duly qualified before the county court and take up the work of closing the estate.

J. Harry Stratton was paid $350,000 yesterday, the amount stipulated in the compromise agreement by A. G. Sharp, one of the administrators to collect appointed by County Judge Orr to take charge of the estate during the progress of the will contest.

The order directing the payment of this amount was made by Judge Orr yesterday morning and the same entered on record in the county court. The order directs the executors to pay half of the costs in the district court. This is a modification of the agreement.

Under the instructions of Judge William P. Seedes the jury in the district court returned a verdict in favor of the will at 1:45 o'clock yesterday, which declares the deceased to have been of sound and disposing mind and memory.

By this action J. Harry Stratton is forever precluded from making any claim against the estate.

The administrators to collect will wind up their affairs in a few days and the executors under the will will qualify and take complete charge of the estate.

The executors are Dr. D. H. Rice, Carl S. Chamberlin and Myron S. Stratton.

The division of the $1,000,000 awarded to J. Harry Stratton by the terms of the settlement is enough more to the credit of the contestant than was at first supposed.

The following was given out by one of the local attorneys as the basis upon which the funds were divided:

Court's Instructions

The instructions given by Judge Seedes which brought about the verdict were as follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury: I am instructed by the court to inform you that the instrument produced in court and purporting to be the last will and testament of Winfield S. Stratton, deceased, was executed by the said W. S. Stratton, and that at the time of the signing and publishing of the said will he was of sound and disposing mind and memory, and that said will was executed and declared by said W. S. Stratton to be his last will and testament without fraud, compulsion or undue influence, or any other improper influence on the part of any person whatever, and that it is the verdict of the jury.

"Signed, D. P. Seedes, Judge."

The Verdict

We, the jurors in the above entitled cause, find that the instrument produced in court and purporting to be the last will and testament of Winfield S. Stratton, deceased, was executed by the said W. S. Stratton, and that at the time of the signing and publishing of the said will he was of sound and disposing mind and memory, and that said will was executed and declared by said W. S. Stratton to be his last will and testament without fraud, compulsion or undue influence, or any other improper influence on the part of any person whatever.

CARRIE NATION GIVES HER OWN AVIS AS TO HER ESTIMATE OF HERSELF

"Your Home Defender," From Kansas, Does a Stunt at the Hotel Immediately Upon Her Arrival, and Creates a Sensation at the Start.

Carrie Nation is in Colorado Springs. She came on the delayed Denver & Rio Grande train last night at 10:30 o'clock and contrary to expectations did not carry the famous hatchet in her hand. Mrs. Nation was delayed by a wreck of a freight train in the Grand Canon and the meeting arranged for the Temple theater last evening was postponed on receipt of a telegram from her stating she could not be in Colorado Springs on time. Arrangements have been made for an address from Mrs. Nation at the theater this evening.

Mrs. Nation was given an ovation as she stepped from the train at the Rio Grande depot but not by local Prohibitionists. They were uncertain when the train would arrive and as it chanced there were three belated trains, the passengers who had accompanied her on on her journey from Salt Lake were the only ones to help her off and place in charge of a coloman two large suit cases. Mrs. Nation was driven to the Elk hotel where she registered as "Carrie A. Nation, Your Loving Home Defender, Topeka, Kan."

"I have my hatchet in my baggage," said Mrs. Nation. "Her coming had been advertised and a large crowd due in a great part to the election thronged the street in front of the hotel. As she entered the hotel she was recognized and there was quite a little rush toward as she stepped to the desk to register. Several men smoking cigars and one young man with a cigarette between his lips as he looked with frank curiosity at the matronly appearing figure of the elderly little woman who has smashed saloons and who during the recent horse show at Madison Square garden, New York, paused before the boxes of some of the wealthiest of the "400" and denounced them for wearing gowns which she considered indecent. Mrs. Nation caught the odor of the cigarette and cigars and did not wait for an invitation to begin her first lecture in Colorado Springs. She was being conducted up the stairway to her apartments on the second floor when she faced the crowd of men below and standing upon the landing with her hands resting upon the banister, she said:

"Men, If You Knew."

"Men, if you knew how filthy that habit is you would throw those things away. Don't you know you are carrying your coffins on your shoulders? The man who smokes a cigarette has made a compact with Death, and is in league with Satan. Throw them away! Behave men! You have a Prohibition town but you spoil what good there is in that by killing yourself with smoke. You know it. I don't have to tell you about it.

Mrs. Nation is a pleasant faced gray haired woman of little over five feet in height. She has the soft voice and the manners of the gentlewoman, but whenever she speaks of her work or of the liquor traffic of the United States the dark eyes glow and her impressive words cannot fail but produce an almost magic effect upon the listener. As she sat in the parlors on the ground floor of the hotel, the crowd pressed against the windows until it seemed that the glass would break. There were frequent calls of "Carrie get after the drug stores. Where is our hatchet?" But to these Mrs. Nation smilingly nodded.

"They are our jewels, these boys. If they would only realize how much pleasanter it is to go around with young women spending their money than spending their money for liquor how many of them would be saved from going to the drunkard's grave. I have gone to jail to keep them out of hell."

Mrs. Nation will deliver her last lecture in Colorado Springs prior to taking up the most earnest work of her life. She will hereafter devote herself to establishing even the country homes for drunkards which she. Six weeks ago while in California, he purchased from a property owner in Topeka a large residence where she will start her first institution of this kind and will follow it up with one in Kansas City. She has sold her home to accomplish this and will continue lectures and the selling of souvenirs in the shape of small silver hatchets, and her picture, to receive money for this purpose.

"I smash legally now," said Mrs. Nation. "My trip of two months from Kansas to the coast has been in the interest of the Prohibition cause to manufacture Prohibition votes against the curse of this nation, the covenant with death and the agreement with hell. We want to elect officers and a president who is not in this unholy league with the saloon keepers. I am not smashing saloons, but I am smashing the cause of the saloons, the saloons are but the effect of the cause, and I am accomplishing more than I expected to.

Her Sustaining Power

"The power that sustains me is wonderful. I realize there is an unseen power behind me, and for a frail woman and one 57 years of age I know no fatigue and have often marveled at myself. Travel on these long journeys has strengthened rather than fatigued me. I feel the way I do when I am at home. I get off the train and I am as fresh as a daisy. I go to bed late and I get up early. I have lectured in Los Angeles, San Diego, Pasadena, Redlands, Riverside, Ontario, Pomona, Los Angeles, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, Tustin, Santa Ana, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Ventura, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Los Angeles
